Kennedy Enters Primary Tests In Neb. And Wis.

Senator Takes On Humphrey In Wisconsin

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), announced Thursday he will enter Nebraska's presidential preference primary.

He flew here to make the announcement only a few hours after disclosing in Milwaukee his decision to take on Minnesota's Sen. Hubert Humphrey in the Wisconsin Democratic primary.

The Nebraska primary, unlike the April 5 test in Wisconsin, is a popularity contest only. The results are not binding on Nebraska's 16 Democratic convention delegates.

Humphrey has visited Nebraska twice in recent months but remained undecided about entering the primary. The Minnesota expressed doubts he will have the financial or physical resources to compete both in Wisconsin and Nebraska.

First Nebraska Entry

Kennedy is the first of either party to enter the Nebraska primary.

Kennedy, in making his announcement he would enter Wisconsin primary, agreed to stake his presidential hopes on an admittedly "hazardous" battle with Sen. Humphrey.

Kennedy's willingness to engage in what he called "a very tough fight" indicated he hopes to bury Humphrey as a presidential contender and then battle Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas on the Democratic National Convention floor in July.

"I am fully aware of the risks and difficulties this course involves," Kennedy told a news conference announcing his entry into the Wisconsin stakes. "But the Wisconsin primary will have a decisive effect—the winner will have an extremely strong position at the convention, and deservedly so."

Slap Taken At Johnson

Kennedy said he regards Johnson as his principal adversary at present. He based this, he said, on reports that the Democratic floorleader in the Senate has control of some 400-odd convention votes.

The boyish-appearing, 42-year-old junior senator from Massachusetts took a slap at Johnson and other presidential hopefuls in his party.

"Even though my chief competitors in the convention remain safely on the sidelines, hoping to gain the nomination through manipulation of the convention, I cannot follow the advice of those urging me not to enter this or other representative primaries," Kennedy said.

Networks Agree On TV Cultural Program Project

NEW YORK (AP)—The three major television networks Thursday announced an agreement to devote an hour apiece of prime evening time each week to cultural programs. The project will begin next November.

ABC, NBC and CBS took their cue for the arrangement from Chairman John C. Doerfer of the Federal Communications Commission. In a speech two weeks ago he suggested such programs by the networks on a rotational basis.

Doerfer added that unless the networks worked out some voluntary arrangement, they might face a congressional crackdown.

Gates Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Armed Services Committee unanimously and without questioning approved Thursday the nomination of Thomas S. Gates to be defense secretary.

"I SHALL RUN"—This is the way Sen. John F. Kennedy appeared yesterday as the Massachusetts Democrat announced to a news conference in Milwaukee: "I shall run in the Wisconsin presidential primary." Truman Down On Ike, High On Demo Chances

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman breezed back into Washington Thursday high on Democratic prospects and down on President Eisenhower.

"I like Ike," Truman told newsmen, "but I don't think he has made a good president."

Truman came back to his old stamping grounds looking as healthy and sounding as peppery as he did in his "give 'em hell" election campaign of 1948.

He was here for Saturday night's $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner, at which he will be one of the main speakers. He'll share the platform with most of the Democratic presidential "available."

The next president, he confidently assured questioners, will be a Democrat. He asked: "What more do you want for the welfare of the country?"

Truman would not say whom he'll support for the Democratic nomination, but did confine that his mind is made up.

Truman's remarks coincided with a big development in the 1960 campaign — the announcement in Milwaukee Thursday by Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts that he will contest with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota for Wisconsin's 31 votes in the Democratic presidential nominating convention.

In other political developments: 1. Eisenhower was projected as a likely keynote speaker for the Republican National Convention, at which Vice President Richard M. Nixon is expected to win the GOP presidential nomination.

"The President will have a major part in the convention," GOP Chairman Thruston B. Morton said. "His speech may well furnish the keynote."

2. Interest was reported picking up in the Republican "Dinner with Ike" here next Wednesday, to be addressed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

After Rockefeller decided against battling with Nixon for the presidential nomination, ticket sales dropped off. Now, however, dinner officials report that about 2,500 seats have been sold at $10 a plate for men plus $10 for wives.

37 Dead, Nine Survive Fiery Plane Crash

All 17 Americans Aboard Colombian Airliner Perish

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (AP)—A Colombian airliner, running behind schedule on a flight south from New York, turned over on its back, exploded and caught fire in landing at this Caribbean resort early Thursday. Thirty-seven persons were killed.

Nine survived, but every one of 17 Americans aboard perished.

The crash threw the plane, a two-million-dollar Super Constellation, onto its back in a shallow creek of swamp water north of the runway. With passengers and crewmen caught upside down in their safety belts, blasts and flames followed. Gasoline fed the fire.

"I could hear them screaming up front," said one survivor.

Sen. Capehart's Son Killed

Prominent among the victims were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Capehart, both 36, of Indianapolis—a son and daughter-in-law of Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.)—and John H. Marhofer, 36, of Muncie, Ind., president of the Marhofer Packing Co. They were en route to Bogota, Colombia, to consider investing in a cattle-feeding and slaughtering operation there.

Business people and vacationers made up much of the rest of the passenger list. It was the fourth fatal airline accident of 1960, boosting the death toll of such crashes in the first three weeks of the new year to 163.

Five Crewmen Escape

Four passengers and five of the seven-member crew escaped from the flaming wreckage of the plane, the Avianca Colombian National Airlines Flight 671. Rescuers found them wet and bedraggled but apparently not seriously hurt.

The surviving passengers were two Dutchmen employed by the World Bank in Washington, Hendrik C. Wythes, 36, and R. A. D. Loven, 54, and an Australian couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Kelton, en route to their home in Ecuador. Stewardess M. Abad directed them out through a rear emergency door, then fell silent in shock.

A forward escape hatch saved four others of the crew—Capt. J. Duque, Copilot H. Arango, Flight Engineer Armando Espanos, and Purser P. Riano.

France Cancels Atom Test Zone Air Flight Ban

PARIS (AP)—The French government Thursday night lifted a ban on air flights over a large section of the Sahara where French atomic blasts are expected.

The ban, announced earlier Thursday, was to have gone into effect Friday at 6:45 a.m. (12:45 a.m. EST).

No reason was given for the cancellation, but it was believed the government had been making a trial run of restriction provisions that will go into effect before a French atomic device is exploded. The government had said previously it would have several test alerts.

The government has indicated the flight ban would go into effect at least 12 hours before an atom bomb is exploded near Regane, the French atomic test site.

Airliner, 34 Aboard, Is Brought Down Safely; Landing Gear Locks On Impact

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A Trans World Airlines plane carrying 34 persons was brought down safely Thursday after a tense aerial drama caused by a faulty nose landing gear.

The Super Constellation circled the city for more than two hours and then made a perfect landing at the U.S. naval air station near suburban Olathe, Kan.

It was at this same field that another TWA Super Constellation made a safe belly landing a year ago after its main landing gear failed to work.

The 29 passengers aboard the Washington-bound flight No. 262, remained calm through the emergency. The hostesses served coffee until the supply was exhausted and the passengers exchanged jokes about the upcoming landing.

But the touchdown came with relief.

John Sprowls of Denver, a passenger, put it this way: "The most enjoyable stop I ever made."

Difficulty with the plane's nose gear was experienced as the plane prepared to land at St. Louis. The pilot, Capt. Chris Clark, Leawood, Kan., decided to bring the plane back to Kansas City, from which it had departed at 6:45 a.m.

"We were unable to get the nose landing gear to lock in place in the air," Clark explained. "But it locked in place when we touched ground. There was no anxiety whatsoever."

Ohio Aerial Drama

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A

Trans World Airlines Constellation with 27 persons aboard made a safe emergency landing at the Youngstown Municipal Airport Thursday when a small electrical fire broke out.

Capt. Al Clay, pilot of Flight 546 from Chicago to New York, with final destination at Boston, said the plane was 15,000 feet above the Youngstown airport when the trouble was noted.

He said the crew members spotted smoke coming from the cockpit and the safety instruments also indicated an electrical fire. Clay said he immediately radioed for emergency landing permission to the federal airway traffic control center at Indianapolis and came down rapidly.

The fire was out by the time the plane landed.

"Miss Sam" Back From Space

Female Monkey Wife Knew Spears Survives Rocket Trip 9 Miles Up

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP)—

A six-pound girl monkey took a rocket ride more than nine miles up Thursday in a new test that advanced the chances of successfully launching men into space.

A one-ton space capsule, with "Miss Sam" inside, successfully underwent a simulated emergency escape from the rocket which propelled it 48,900 feet high.

The test was designed primarily to check the radio-controlled mechanism by which it is hoped the lives of human astronauts will be saved if they run into trouble during future rocket launchings.

It was the second such test. On Dec. 4 a male monkey survived a rocket trip 55 miles high.

Watching Thursday from a radar control tower about 400 feet were two of seven Mercury Astronauts who may be the first Americans launched into space.

They were Navy Lt. Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard of East Derry, N. H., and Marine Corps Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. of Cambridge, Ohio, and Arlington, Va.

After the capsule's separation from the launching rocket, it parachuted to the surface of a somewhat choppy sea 12 miles from this island, which is off Virginia's eastern shore.

The capsule was retrieved by a Marine Corps helicopter.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said doctors who took the monkey from the capsule reported she was "more frisky than before the launching."

Shortly afterward, "Miss Sam"—a three-year, four-month-old, Texas-born rhesus monkey—ate with apparent gusto a lunch of crackers, apples and water.

She was then whisked away from the island for a flight to Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., where scientists will analyze results of the test.

Lausche Abandons "Favorite Son" Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) Thursday abandoned his plan to head a slate of presidential delegate candidates in Ohio against a rival delegation pledged to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

"I will not be a candidate for favorite son' of Ohio," Lausche said in a statement.

"This does not mean that I approve of the deal made to date, presidential primary in Ohio wherein the Democrats of the state are practically stripped of their right to make a choice."

"To enter a slate of candidates is practically an insurmountable task."

Lausche had said several weeks ago that he might run a delegate slate against Kennedy delegates led by Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Lausche's action—barring some unexpected decision by another Democratic hopeful—assures Kennedy of a solid 64-man Ohio delegation at the convention without a fight.

Female Monkey Wife Knew Spears Survives Rocket Trip 9 Miles Up

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Robert V. Spears' wife said

Thursday night she learned 11 days ago her husband was alive instead of among 42 passengers lost in an airliner which crashed Nov. 16 in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Dallas naturopath's wife, Frances, 36, also said Spears told her during a visit here that a fellow ex-convict, William Allen Taylor of Tampa, Fla., took Spears' seat on the ill-fated plane.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Efforts that Spears knew Julian Allen to unravel the mystery of a long-time criminal who turned up alive after being listed as dead in an airliner crash were cloaked in secrecy Thursday.

An informed source told the Phoenix Gazette explosives had been found in the luggage of Dr. Robert Vernon Spears, who was seized by FBI agents in Phoenix Wednesday.

Boyle would neither confirm nor deny the report. He said there would be no comment on the investigation unless formal charges were filed.

Spears, 65, a burly Dallas naturopath carrying $100,000 in travel insurance, was listed as a passenger on the National Airlines plane which fell into the Gulf of Mexico Nov. 16, killing 42 persons.

The Civil Aeronautics Board and the Senate Aviation subcommittee are investigating the possibility that this crash and one of another National Airlines near Bolivia, N. C., Jan. 6 were caused by bombs.

Speculation has centered on the possibility that William Allen Taylor of Tampa, Fla., another ex-convict and a friend of Spears, took the fatal Gulf flight in Spears' place.

Ten bodies were recovered. None was identified as Taylor's. Alice Steele Taylor said in Tampa she is convinced her former husband died in place of Spears on the plane. Taylor has been missing since the plane's take-off from Tampa for New Orleans.

Mrs. Taylor received a mailed $37,500 policy from a life insurance vending machine at Tampa International Airport two days after the crash.

Authorities also have been told its delegates.

Prober Tells Drug Firm Prices, Profits Too High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) told a big Philadelphia drug firm Thursday its prices and profits were "completely out of line."

Even allowing for big expenses in research to keep up to date, Kefauver said the firm of Smith Kline & French ranked second among the nation's 500 most profitable manufacturing firms.

Summing up a day's hearings on the price of tranquilizers, Kefauver said he was opposed to the idea of socialized medicine but he declared it would come "unless you and others get your prices down."

For the first time in history, Kefauver said, the cost of drugs is more than medical bills.

Testimony and statistics entered in the record of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee indicated the tranquilizer thora-

Mid-Pacific Shot Carried 7,760 Miles

Dummy Nose Cone Fell 1.24 Miles Off Target, Soviets Say

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet test rocket fired from a third of the way around the world missed its target in mid-Pacific by only a little over a mile, the Russians announced Thursday.

The shot into a normally American-controlled bull's-eye area about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii was fired from a distance of about 7,760 miles, said Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

It was billed here as the first of a series of multistage ballistic missiles intended for flights toward such planets as Venus and Mars.

The announcement, about 24 hours after U.S. military authorities had disclosed detection of the shot, contradicted early speculation by Washington officials that it apparently had missed by hundreds of miles.

1.24 Miles Off Target

Tass said the dummy nose cone had hit the water only 1.24 miles from "the predetermined point" at 12:05 p.m. EST Wednesday after the next to last stage had disintegrated and burned in the atmosphere about 50 miles up.

The claim was a dramatic counter to the disclosure by President Eisenhower in his State of the Union message that 14 U.S. Atlas missiles had scored hits less than two miles from their targets at a range of 5,000 miles.

(Washington military officials said Thursday their later information indicated the Soviet missile did fall within the target area, a zone of 34,800 square miles.

Airline Pilot Saw Explosion

(The burning of the next to the last stage, as described by Moscow, apparently accounted for the report of Capt. R. A. Gray, an Australian airline pilot, who saw a "huge bright orange flash going off" at the time given by the Russians. He said he plotted the position and believed the rocket had exploded prematurely at least 200 miles from the target zone.)

(He said he was flying at 20,000 feet and "we actually looked down on the explosion which was at 2,000 feet.")

(Speculation in Washington was that the rocket was fired from Tyura Tam, in the area of the Aral Sea in the southern part of the Soviet Union. Rockets of the 7,000 to 8,000-mile range fired westward from that site could reach nearly any point in the United States.)

Nation Shivers; Warmup Seen

By The Associated Press

Most of the nation shivered in a wintry chill Thursday, and forecasters said the cold would continue through another 24 hours. However, a warming trend is expected to push up from the Gulf states and New Mexico Friday.

Midday temperature readings near the zero mark were reported from the northern Rockies into North Dakota, while the teens or lower ranged from the northern half of the Mississippi Valley into the central Rocky Mountain states. Temperatures generally were in the 20s or 30s in the Atlantic Coast states, except in Florida where readings in the 40s and 50s were common, a range which also was recorded in Texas and near the Pacific Coast.

On the coast some light rain fell. Occasional snow or flurries fell from the northern Rockies through the Upper Mississippi Valley into the Appalachians and New England. Rather heavy snow fell near the eastern shores of the Great Lakes.

Intermittent rain or showers dotted the length of the West Coast, and snow was scattered from the interior regions of the Pacific Northwest into the California mountains.

Campaign Donation Lid Voted By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted Thursday night to put a limit of $10,000 a year on any individual's contribution to federal election campaigns.

It also approved a ceiling on the amount of money that legally can be spent in presidential campaigns and by candidates seeking a presidential nomination.

By voice vote, the Senate wrote both amendments into a bill which would revise the 35-year-old Corrupt Practices Act which regulates the financing of campaigns for federal office.

Red Pacific Rockets Carrying Powerful Political Warheads

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Moscow's Pacific missiles are mounted with powerful political warheads.

The Kremlin advertised the peaceful intentions of its rocket tests in advance, but the timing and the propaganda involved in the experiments betoken power politics.

The formidable rocket's nose cone plunged into the Pacific just after Japan signed a new alliance treaty with the United States authorizing continued presence of American troops on Japanese soil. That treaty is now being denounced by the Russians.

Well ahead of rocket launching, the Russians launched a propaganda campaign aimed primarily

Suggestion By Finch Defense Denied By Cody

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The defense in the Finch murder trial suggested an admitted con-man was hired to seduce, rather than slay, socialite Barbara Jean Finch.

Jack Cody denied it. He was hired only to kill, he said.

Cody, 29, brought here from Minneapolis jail, was on the witness stand for the third day. A key prosecution witness, he has admitted being a liar, confidence man and petty criminal, living off various women and—most important—accepting $1,400 after falsely promising to kill Mrs. Finch.

Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42, wealthy surgeon from suburban West Covina, and his pretty mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23, are charged with the murder of Mrs. Finch, 36.

The prosecution claims they hired Cody to do the job and when he didn't Dr. Finch did—beating his wife and then shooting her in the back as she fled from him at the Finch estate the night of last July 18.

Cody testified that Dr. Finch only hired him to kill his wife but offered him his clinic as a hideout.

"I guess he was joking about it but I was serious," said Cody. "I wanted no part of any clinic. I said 'that would be silly after killing your wife. You could come in and give me a shot and eliminate me.'"

Jet Wing Tank Cause Of Crash?

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The Raleigh Times said Thursday it has been told that a wing tank jettisoned from a jet fighter may have caused the crash of a National Airlines plane near Bolivia, N. C., Jan. 6.

The Times said it had been told by a North Carolina source close to the current investigation of the crash that metal particles found in the body of a passenger, New York lawyer Julian Frank, have been identified as the type found in wing tanks of fighter planes.

The paper admitted that if, indeed, the airliner was struck by such an object it would have been "a million-to-one coincidence."

Governor Denies Pardon To Prisoner Once Freed

BALTIMORE (AP)—William B. Smith in the original case are D'Onofrio, once freed from jail by a judge, will have to go back.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes refused Thursday to grant the 40-year-old Baltimorean an executive pardon in the first such request he has considered since election in 1958.

The legal chain of circumstances which led to the appeal to the governor also was unique in Maryland.

D'Onofrio originally was convicted in Baltimore County by Judge Michael Paul Smith of robbery in the armed robbery of a Dundalk service station and sentenced to 12 years.

One of his two co-defendants subsequently recanted his testimony that D'Onofrio participated willingly in the armed robbery.

Chief Judge John B. Gontrom upon hearing such evidence ordered the release of D'Onofrio more than a year ago.

The state, under a relatively new Post Conviction Procedure Act, appealed. The Court of Appeals ruled that Judge Gontrom had erred.

D'Onofrio then asked the governor for a pardon.

After a two-hour closed hearing, Gov. Tawes said he was "not convinced that the findings of Judge

Senators Hear Army Complaint

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators gave a sympathetic ear Thursday to Army complaints that the Eisenhower administration is starving their project for development of a weapon to knock down Soviet intercontinental missiles.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker and several top generals were invited to report back to the Senate Armed Services Committee with an estimate of how much money they think they could use to push work on the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile.

In his budget message to Congress last week, President Eisenhower said he was earmarking funds for further testing of the Nike-Zeus. But he said that until the tests are completed, there will be no use of 137 million dollars voted last year to get ready for production of the anti-missile.

Committee Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), gave newsmen an account of what went on behind closed doors as Brucker and some top Army officers were questioned for a second successive day.

Home Permanent Patent Is Upheld

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A federal judge Thursday entered an order which could make virtually every beauty parlor and home permanent wave subject to patent rights of a Yonkers, N. Y. inventor.

U.S. District Court Judge Walter A. Hoffman, carrying out a mandate of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, dismissed a suit aimed at throwing out a patent originally awarded Dr. Everett G. McDonough, a Yonkers chemist.

The defendants have said dismissal of the suit could lead to annual royalty payments totaling more than four million dollars from the permanent wave industry, previously unhampered by patent rights.

The suit was the latest in a long series of court actions involving major cosmetic firms and two patent companies. It stemmed from the invention of the cold wave formula which made pos-

Spears Served Forgery Term In Maryland Pen

Taylor Convicted In Same 1937 Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Robert V. Spears, arrested in Phoenix, Ariz., Wednesday for questioning in connection with the mysterious crash of an airliner in the Gulf of Mexico, served four years in the Maryland Penitentiary for forgery.

Convicted with him was William A. Taylor, who has been missing since the Nov. 16 crash that took the lives of 42.

Spears was listed as a passenger on the plane. Taylor's wife has said she believed Spears tricked Taylor into going on the ill-fated plane in his place.

During their trial in 1937, it was testified that a year earlier one of the two sent a telegram to the home office of a California tire retreating firm, using the name of a company representative. The telegram asked for money.

The company wired back $300 the next day. Taylor or Spears collected it.

The two were picked up using the same trick in Florida and returned here.

Both were released in 1940. A Texas state investigating committee once tried to untangle Spears' background. But he invoked the Fifth Amendment and refused to talk.

He received his license to practice naturopathy under cloudy circumstances, too. Maryland Asst. Atty. Gen. James H. Norris said Spears wrote a letter in 1956 saying his medical license had been lost or destroyed and asking for a duplicate.

The duplicate, if it was a duplicate, was issued by Dr. Robert H. Reddick, now serving a 5-year penitentiary term for forgery of a medical license.

Spears practiced in Texas as a naturopath and once headed the Texas Naturopathic Assn. Naturopaths do not use drugs or surgery, claiming to heal with various physical culture activities. Naturopathic techniques are scored by most branches of the healing arts.

First known criminal sentence Spears came in 1927 when he received a one to six month term in Leavenworth Penitentiary for fraud.

He also served terms in Missouri for forgery, Ohio for larceny, Ontario for vagrancy and false pretenses, and Oklahoma for armed robbery.

He paid a $1,000 fine in Dallas for abortion after police caught him in a motel with a young secretary shortly after an operation had been performed on the woman.

Three More Die On Md. Roads

By The Associated Press
Three more fatalities were added Thursday to Maryland's steadily increasing 1960 highway death toll.

The total now stands at 31, seven more than the number killed through Jan. 21 a year ago.

Thursday's victims were Mrs. Elizabeth Carter, 74, of Baltimore; Esther Geraldine Harding, 44, of Laurel; and Albert Alkell Powell, 29, Negro, of Mitchellville.

Mrs. Carter was fatally injured by a bus which struck her at a west Baltimore intersection.

State Police said Mrs. Harding was run over by a car driven by Dewey T. Hoggood, 34, of Crownsville on Race Track Road north of Maryland 602.

Hoggood told police he saw an object lying on the road, but hit it before he could swerve out of the way.

Powell was killed when he lost control of his car on Old U.S. 50 near Lanham. Police said the car hit a culvert, throwing the driver out of the vehicle and pinning him under a wheel.

Boonsboro Gets Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Boonsboro, Md., Thursday received a $30,000 federal grant to help finance a $155,000 sewage disposal project, the Public Health Service announced.

In Japan, a cook will devote as much time and attention to the arrangement and color scheme of food as he does to taste.

The "head" of a shrimp houses the crustacean's heart and stomach. The tasty meat in the tail is the part that is eaten.

Two Deaths Reported In Germ War Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier (R-Wis.) said Thursday a survey indicates at least two persons have died and several hundred persons have been stricken with serious diseases in Army bacteriological warfare work.

He said he soon will make public the results of the study, which goes back to 1943. He said it was prepared by his office staff and is based on published medical reports and other information.

A member of Kastenmeier's staff said the two deaths occurred at Ft. Detrick, Md.

Four Teeners Admit Painting Swastikas

FREDERICK (AP) — City police said Thursday they had picked up four young teenagers who had admitted painting swastikas on a Catholic school, two synagogues and the city's water tower.

Officers said the four implicated a fifth, who would be picked up. The teenagers, reportedly all under 16, were not identified pending action by juvenile authorities.

The swastikas, painted in what

Development Of Patuxent State Park Recommended

BALTIMORE (AP) — Development of a 6,800-acre state park along the Patuxent River in Howard, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties was recommended Thursday by planning staffs of two agencies.

The diagram was drafted by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the Howard County Planning Commission.

The proposed park would include two reservoirs, with its boundaries extending along the river north of Laurel.

The park would embrace 3,369 acres in Howard County, 3,336 in Montgomery and 73 in Prince Georges.

The planners said it would serve as a "separator strip" in the expanding Baltimore and Washington suburban areas. It also would help "protect the Patuxent water supply area."

About 4,700 acres of the proposed park area are now woodland. The remainder is vacant, undeveloped or agricultural in rough terrain.

appeared to be black enamel, were discovered Wednesday morning.

The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission has two reservoirs in the river watershed, at Rocky Gorge and Triadelphia. The Patuxent extends about 32 miles north of Laurel to its source in the western end of Howard County. Seventeen miles of the valley would be within the park area.

School Principal's Father Kills Himself

CHESTER, Md. (AP) — A Latrobe, Pa. man visiting his son here shot and killed himself Wednesday, state police reported.

The body of Morris Chester Jones, 55, was found in the home of Morris M. Jones, principal of Stevensville High School.

The younger Jones said his father, an employee at the Westinghouse plant in Latrobe, had been suffering from hardening of the arteries, which made him dependent.

Jones was a native of Salisbury. His mother, Mrs. Minnie M. Jones, still resides there.

Police Testing New Auto Safety Device

BALTIMORE (AP) — A new safety device designed to lessen the chance of auto passengers being hurled forward against the dashboard is being tested by Baltimore City Police.

Commissioner James M. Hepbron said Thursday three cruisers are equipped with the gadget.

The device is attached to the front and rear bumpers. When the vehicle is struck it trips a spring which causes the car seats to move backward.

The backward movement of the seat at the moment of impact takes up the concussion of the crash and helps check the forward plunge of the passenger, Hepbron said.

Canada produces about 90 per cent of the nickel of the free world. Forty-four per cent of American families do not have any children under 18 years of age.

12 States Represented By Hero Award Winners

Two Women, Man Honored Posthumously

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A 37-year-old sewer construction worker from Iowa, a young telephone operator from Yonkers, N.Y., and a woman office clerk from Somerville, Mass., were honored posthumously Thursday as the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission presented 25 bronze medals for outstanding acts of heroism.

Twelve states were represented by the award winners with eight of the bronze medals presented to residents of Iowa and five to heroes in Massachusetts. The commission also presented pensions totaling $1,680 in three cases and in 17 cases granted $8,250 to be used for educational and other worthy purposes.

One of the posthumous medals went to Lawrence Lowell Waters, 37, of Washington, Iowa, who lost his life while helping to save a fellow worker who was buried when a sewer excavation caved in at Epworth, Iowa, May 16, 1958.

Leaps Into Pit

Waters noticed that Earl Wiemerslage, 33, and John R. McLaren were partially buried when the side of a 17-foot-deep ditch caved in. Waters jumped into the pit and began digging frantically to free Wiemerslage, but a second more serious cave-in trapped Waters and buried him completely.

Wiemerslage and McLaren subsequently were rescued, but a third cave-in hampered rescue operations and Waters died at the scene of suffocation and internal injuries. Five other men who helped in the rescue were awarded bronze medals.

Waters' widow was awarded death benefits at a rate of $50 a month.

On Dec. 2, 1958, Matilda F. Bruno, 27, a telephone operator, gave her life trying to save a young couple and their 2-year-old son who she believed were trapped in the second floor of a burning home.

Awakened By Smoke

Miss Bruno was awakened by her mother when smoke filtered into their first-floor apartment. She managed to lead her mother to safety and then returned to the blazing structure to arouse the upstairs neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore F. Candido and their son, Larry.

Measuring Tape Was On Her Side

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Dorothy Fredericks measured up in court Wednesday because she uses a measuring tape.

Mrs. Fredericks, 29, sells clothes to women in their homes. The measuring tape is her most important piece of equipment.

She also uses the tape to measure parking places, to make sure she is within the law.

That practice got her out of a scrape when she appeared in Traffic Court to answer a charge she had parked her little sports car too close to a fireplug — within 7 feet, instead of the prescribed 15.

"I always carry a tape measure," she told the judge. "I measured the distance to the fireplug, and it was 15 feet."

"Do you mean to say that every time you park, you measure the distance?" Magistrate Maurice Matzkin asked.

"Yes, indeed," she replied.

"Not guilty."

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Possibility of a thaw in the tight money situation later this year is seen by a business analyst.

Until that time, says the financial review of the publishing company, Prentice-Hall, Inc., money likely will become somewhat harder and more expensive to borrow.

"A slowdown in the pace of business, once stockpiling and consumer purchases reach their peak, will ease money demands," it says. "Further, the breather in the stock market will result in substantial switches from equities to debt investments."

"Another turn in the screw toward easier money is seen in the anticipated 1961 federal budget surplus. And if the surplus is used for debt retirement, the government would be releasing money rather than bidding for it."

As for the present, Prentice-Hall says banks are fast becoming loaned up. Commercial and industrial loans by industry rose twice as fast in the last half of 1959 as they did in the last half of 1958—$2,003,000,000, compared with 991 million.

"The Federal Reserve will not be freeing additional funds except to help Treasury financing," the analyst says. "So banks will get choosier in the coming months in extending loans by whittling down the list of prime rate borrowers and demanding larger checking account balances."

"Look for a further hike in the rate banks charge to blue chip borrowers. Steady at 5 per cent since 1959, it could go up another one-half per cent by February or March. And a further rise in the rediscount rate, now 4 per cent, sometime after the Treasury's February refunding, is in the cards."

Extreme prudence should be the near future. Nevertheless, the ba-

UW Group Discusses Stevenson

Essays written by Robert Louis Stevenson were discussed by the Great Books Group of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. Earle Cobey. A comprehensive study of the life of Stevenson was given by Mrs. Granville Shirley with supplementary excerpts from the author's letters inserted by Mrs. Milton Bernstein. They noted it is remarkable that Stevenson's constant ill-health in no way deterred his determination to write; in fact, he seemed most creative when ill, using his healthier moments for re-writing.

General discussion on the Essays was led by Miss Mary Walsh who spoke of Stevenson as a man who delighted in small joys and in heroic action. While he wrote sensitive and humorous pieces about his childhood and youthful memories, he also wrote scathing indictments of man's injustice to man. Thumb-nail reviews of several of the essays were contributed by Mrs. Hollis Seavey who selected "An Apology for Idlers" which is a defense of a non-materialistic approach to life; Mrs. Lawrence Brown, who spoke of the essay on Thoreau, author of "Walden"; Mrs. George Hazelwood who summarized "A Gossip on Romance" as a delightful discussion of romantic literature; and Mrs. G. Morgan Smith.

Little Political Activity Noted In Nearby W. Va.

There is little political activity in nearby West Virginia despite the nearness of the February 6 deadline for filing. Observers are unable to explain the apparent lack of interest, while predicting that the tempo will speed up considerably in the remaining time.

Hampshire County officials report only five individuals have filed for offices in the upcoming primary voting. All are Democrats.

William B. Slonaker of Capon Bridge, an incumbent, will seek re-election to the House of Delegates. Roy J. Hott, Kirby, has filed for county assessor; John R. Blue of Romney, for sheriff; Ellis E. Haines of Capon Bridge, for county commissioner, and W. Edward Arnold, Three Churches, for the county executive committee of his party.

Incumbents who have filed in Hardy County include Donald J. Baker, Moorefield, for House of Delegates; Carl S. Welton, Moorefield, county commissioner, and Mrs. Ann Keller Heishman, of Fisher, and E. S. Evans, Rig, Democratic executive committee.

Others who have filed are Glen W. Evans, Moorefield, for sheriff, and G. S. Mathias, of Mathias, and Mrs. Elva M. Harman, Moorefield, county executive committee.

Grant County balloting will feature contests by a father and his son for two justice of the peace positions in Milroy District. The candidates are J. L. Boor, incumbent, and George A. Boor, both of Petersburg.

The only others who have filed are Albert Schinzing, Petersburg, for the non-partisan board of education, and A. R. Cosner of Bismarck and Myron H. McDonald, Maysville, incumbent county commissioners.

Pendleton County reports only four persons seeking election, and three of them have filed for the office of sheriff. The candidates are C. A. Warner, Circleville; Fred A. Dahmer, Deer Run, and Arlie Mullenax, Franklin. All are Democrats.

The other Pendleton candidate is V. Roy Bowers, Riverton, for the non-partisan board of education.

Two Republicans seek election in Morgan County. They are A. Foster Lineweaver, Berkeley Springs, and G. E. Mechem, Great Cacapon, incumbent county commissioner. Filing for the board of education have been Olaf L. Dilker, Cherry Run, an incumbent, and Edward O. Scully, Berkeley Springs.

Other area filings include Ronald L. Heckman, Thomas, for the Democratic nomination to the State Senate from the 15th District.

Refinery In China

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Soviet-designed oil refinery with a production capacity of a million tons a year has opened in Lanchow, Communist China, according to Tass News Agency. Tass said the refinery would process "as much oil as all of China's oil refineries did in 1957."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Are You A Fickle-Face?

In many things, women can be masterfully decisive, even a bit too inflexible. But, when it comes to cosmetics, the same women can betray their rigid standards and show a completely fickle nature.

But a fickle face can't fool a mirror!

When women have found a becoming brand of beauty products, they do best to trust that brand for most of their grooming aids. This decision is both penny-wise and pretty-wise, whether the makeup line is expensive or inexpensive.

Just about every cosmetic brand today carries excellent safeguards, thanks to federal drug laws and to heavy investments in research by the makers. What is more, an integral part of those investments is devoted by manufacturers to "keying" their products scientifically, so that the combination will produce the results women want.

Keying cosmetics is the key to why one brand of rouge may not blend with the base and powder of another name. This may be the one shade of discord in color harmony. This explains why a "strange" cleansing cream may not have the precise chemical properties to remove makeup that was made precisely for another cream altogether.

If a woman blames herself, her "difficult" complexion, her "clumsy" beauty techniques, she is unfair as well as fickle. And she is just as unjust to cosmetic manufacturers. After all, they have planned a "complete make-up" for her, not a string of samples.

Every cosmetic line, priced high or low, has its own faithful following. For every kind of reason. And each woman's reason is her own... but each can be translated into one truism. She is satisfied with the total effect. Advertising may attract disciples, but it's performance that attracts devotees.

Brands with a big selection, by the way, provide plenty of adventure for the skip-around samplers. So, if you still fight fickleness, compromise on one name—and keep your flights of fancy within the "family."

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm the ex-wife call him. It's usual, not very good at writing letters but maybe you can put my thoughts into your own words. It would mean a lot to many hard-working boys and their parents.

Is it fair for people to make a newsboy come back two and three times for his money? My son has a paper route and he could be through in an hour and a half if he didn't have to spend an extra hour going back to collect.

He tells me some people peek out the window and when they see him they don't answer the bell. Others argue about the bill. They don't pay for three weeks then they tell the boy they owe for only two weeks. They don't keep receipts and claim the boy is wrong. He can't call a customer a liar so he has to pay.

If you print this letter maybe some people who never thought about it before will understand a newsboy's problems. Thank you—MOTHER OF A CARRIER

DEAR MOTHER: Thank you for writing. You expressed yourself perfectly.

Carrier boys are building character, getting business experience and performing a valuable service. Most of them need the money they earn. These young people deserve encouragement and cooperation from their customers. I hope the people who fit your description, Mother, will turn over a new leaf.

DEAR ANN: Recently I married a man who has been divorced eight years. He has a son and a daughter. Whenever one of the kids looks sideways the Eckhart Square Circle Boys Club, one of the most active youth groups in the state. These boys trap rabbits for restocking, plant trees and shrubs for wildlife habitat improvements and food.

Walters is a member of the International Game Commissioners Association and is listed in "Who's Who in the East" because of his conservation work.

The judges who will select the award winner are Gov. J. Millard Tawes, Ross Lefler, assistant secretary of the U.S. Interior Department; and Dr. I. N. Gabrielson, president of the Wildlife Management Institute.

Former Local Woman New B&O Freight Social Director At FSTC Derailment

Three Officials Of County To Attend Meeting

Allegany County will be represented at a meeting of the State's Attorney's Association of Maryland today at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore.

Attending from this county will be James S. Getty, state's attorney; Donald W. Mason, assistant; and Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator. Getty is a vice president of the association, representing Western Maryland.

Getty said that a number of matters will be discussed with the hope of presenting a few proposals to the next Legislative Council.

The local state's attorney intends to discuss the $250 federal stamps on pinball machines to determine if the stamps make the machine gambling devices. He also expects to propose a study on anonymous telephone calls.

Getty said that during the past several months a large number of county residents have been annoyed with such phone calls. Most of the calls have been made to young girls suggesting that they pose for objectionable pictures. Other phone calls coming to the attention of the State's Attorney's office have been made to women by ex-husbands and ex-boyfriends.

Getty said that during the last session of the General Assembly a law covering this matter was proposed, but defeated.

Lions Club Hears YMCA Program

Because this is "YMCA Week" the Cumberland Lions Club enjoyed a "Y" program featuring the presidents of four Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs at its luncheon meeting Wednesday.

Eric Fable, president of the Allegany Hi-Y Club, Janet Shanholtz, president of the Allegany Tri-Hi-Y, and James White, president of Fort Hill Hi-Y and Jackie Bland, president of Delta Tri-Hi-Y of Fort Hill, presented the program, which was based on the YMCA Youth Conference in Newark, Del., in December. B. U. Smith, general secretary of the local "Y", who accompanied the young people on the Delaware trip, introduced them. Fifty delegates represented the Cumberland YMCA from 12 Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs in Allegany County.

Miss Shanholtz and Miss Bland read a list of statements, adding President R. Bowen Hardesty of Frostburg State Teachers College yesterday announced the appointment of Dr. Virginia Mills, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. S. R. Neel, 311 Maryland Avenue, as social director at the college.

Hardesty said Dr. Mills has accepted the post formerly held by Mrs. Helen Baker Silverthorne, who resigned in June 1959 to become dean of women at a college in Colorado. She will assume her new duties in September.

Dr. Mills is currently dean of women at West Liberty (W. Va.) State College.

Born at Hillsboro, W. Va., she attended elementary school at Alderson and high school at Marlinton in the Mountain State. After studying at Strayer Business School, Washington, she earned an AB degree at Emory and Henry College, Emory, W. Va., majoring in English.

Dr. Mills received an MA degree from Nashville Graduate School and a PhD degree in 1951 at American University, Washington, where she specialized in student personnel administration. She has had a year of post graduate work related to orientation of foreign work.

Her previous assignments include: Teacher at Blackstone (Va.) Junior College, and secretary to the National Education Association, Washington; she taught in Brazil, was assistant dean of women at Ohio Wesleyan University, assisted in rural education under the NEA and was dean of women at Wilkes College, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., until she assumed the position of dean of women and assistant professor of social science at West Liberty.

Dr. Mills is a member of the YWCA, Altrusa International; National Association of Women Deans and Counselors; National Council of Administrative Women in Education; Department of Rural Education, NEA, and the Pennsylvania Association of Deans of Women. She was included in the first edition of "Who's Who of American Women," published in 1958.

Hardesty said Dr. Mills was recommended by Dr. Earl Moreland, president of Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va., who worked with her in Brazil.

her own comments in a series of "agree-disagree" questions which were used to find the subjects which were most controversial.

Fable read a number of "situations" similar to those young people find themselves in continuously, and each of the young people expressed their opinions. White led the discussions that followed.

During the Revolutionary war days, all American iron workers were exempted from military service.

Delays Trains

Twelve cars of a 119-car Baltimore and Ohio freight train bound from Cumberland to Chicago derailed about two miles west of Confluence Wednesday night.

Chief Dispatcher Walter Gawmner at Pittsburgh said the right-of-way was blocked until yesterday evening.

Wreck trains from Cumberland, Somerset and Connellsville worked to clear the tracks. Meanwhile B&O trains were being re-routed over the Western Maryland Railway from Confluence to Ohio.

The passenger trains arriving in Cumberland from the west were over two hours late yesterday morning. The Capitol Limited, Columbian and Ambassador, all of which ran as separate trains this morning, left Cumberland eastbound between 7:30 a. m. and 8 a. m. Normally they leave between 5 a. m. and 5:30 a. m. (The Capitol Limited and Columbian usually run as a combined train).

The cause of the derailment was not immediately determined. The accident occurred about 9:30 p. m. in Somerset County, Gawmner said.

No one was injured in the mishap.

Methodist Group To Hear Talk

W. Carroll Beatty, Baltimore, lay leader of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church, will speak at the meeting of the Methodist Men of Centre Street Methodist Church Wednesday, January 27, at 6:30 p. m. in Assembly Hall.

His topic will be "The Responsibility of 20th Century Laymen" as the combination charter and ladies night program, according to Doyle W. Andrews, president. Entertainment will be furnished by the Sofisti-Kats from Frostburg State Teachers College.

Frostburg College Takes Measures To Protect Food

President R. Bowen Hardesty, in respect to the outbreak of illness affecting approximately 40 students last month, said yesterday that steps have been taken at Frostburg State Teachers College to improve food preparation and serving procedures.

The college president said that "a workshop with all kitchen workers was held under the leadership of Miss Eleanor G. Weagly, supervisor of school lunch programs with the Maryland State Department of Education, following the Christmas holidays."

Hardesty also said that similar workshops were held in the summers of 1955, 1956, 1957 and 1958 and that ensuing the session with Miss Weagly earlier this month, one was held under the direction of J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian with the Allegany County Health Department.

Among the changes made since the holidays, Hardesty said, are:

"1. Outmoded kitchen equipment, which the state hopes to tide over until September when the new dining hall is opened in Gunter Hall, has been thoroughly checked for possible improvement. All present equipment is gas-fired whereas the equipment in Gunter Hall will be heated by electricity.

"2. The County Health Department has been requested to henceforth file written reports of inspections on my desk. Heretofore they had been first sent to the supervisor of the dining hall.

"3. Supervision of the dining hall, Varsity Shop, and various dormitory kitchenettes has been increased. (The president has also asked the health department to include the three kitchenettes in the various dormitories to be included in the inspection).

"4. The health department has been asked to make more frequent inspections at the college.

"5. Students have been cautioned to store personal food goods that they may receive from home in the refrigerator in the kitchenettes.

"6. I have instructed kitchen workers to keep a chart of refrigerator temperatures throughout the day.

"7. No cloth is to be used in wiping food trays; bread is to be picked up with tongs; a student is not allowed to return food to the counter after once accepting it, and each straw is to be wrapped or protected at the ends by a container.

"8. From now on students using the residence hall kitchenettes are required to use paper cups and plates instead of the often ly to keep food preparation and uary 8 and the college president said that on each inspection the department commented that "his space for garbage and additional is a very clean establishment." These reports included the dining hall, Varsity Shop, the elementary school cafeteria and the three kitchenettes.

Constitutionality Of W. Va. Beer Law Being Questioned

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — The constitutionality of West Virginia's beer law has been questioned by Ohio County Intermediate Judge David A. McKee.

The jurist said Thursday if 3-point-2 beer is non-intoxicating, "police have no power to regulate it."

Beer sold in West Virginia may contain only 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight and an act of the Legislature terms beer as "non-intoxicating."

"Only the alcoholic effect of the beverage gives the power to regulate," McKee said. "Why the law has not been challenged in the State Supreme Court, I do not know."

A Wheeling tavern owner later said he might take the question to the high court to determine if the beer law is constitutional.

Truman Offers To Campaign For Sen. Randolph

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman offered Thursday to help Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-WVa.) in his re-election campaign this year.

Randolph reported the offer after an informal get-together the ex-president had with Democratic senators at the Capitol. There was no immediate indication whether Randolph would take up the offer.

The French gave the name "Acadie" to the maritime section of New France. The origin of the name is still debated.

Randolph Believes Ike Should Tour Depressed Areas Of United States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) said Thursday President Eisenhower would have "an awareness" of certain depressed areas in the nation if he had toured them as he did foreign countries recently.

Randolph, in a senate speech calling for the House to pass an aid-for-depressed areas bill, said the Eisenhower administration "seems to believe that what it is doing is quite sufficient" even though the "stark realities of unemployment and depressed areas are evident in the economic picture."

The administration's attitude on such matters, he said, "appears to be a product of a sense of public relations rather than a facing up to public responsibility."

VA Outlines Widow Loans

A reminder that the widow of a eligibility extends to February 1, 1965.

World War II or Korean War veteran may be eligible for a GI loan if the veteran's death was service-connected has been announced by Sam Weston, officer in charge of the Veterans Administration office at the local Post Office.

The fact that the deceased veteran might already have obtained a GI loan does not affect the widow's eligibility to obtain one, he added.

However, if the widow herself is an eligible veteran, she acquires no additional GI loan right because of her husband's death.

GI loans from widows of World War II because of the Jews War II veterans must be filed by and that not enough Jews were July 25, 1960. The Korean War killed in concentration camps.

A resident of Keyser, Staggers is a graduate of Emory & Henry College. He also formerly served as head coach at Potomac State College and was Sheriff of Mineral County from 1937 to 1941.

No other Democrat has filed in opposition to Staggers, but Monongalia County Sheriff Charles J. Whiston is seeking the Republican nomination for the seat.

The 2nd District is composed of Barbours, Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Morgan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Preston, Randolph, Tucker and Webster Counties.

Others elected were Roy Kirby, vice president; Frank Mulligan, recording secretary, and Miss Martha Reagan, financial secretary. Trustees are Frank Mullane and John Stevens, three years; Raymond Lancaster and Harry Crow, two years; George Uhl and Wilbert Logsdon, one year.

A report on activities the past year was given by the recording secretary, and the financial report was read.

Repairs to the water line leading from the cistern to the Calla Hill section were discussed.

Boy Scouts Planning 50th Anniversary

FROSTBURG — Troop 42, Boy Scouts and Squadron 42, Air Explorers, both sponsored by the First Methodist Church have outlined plans for the observance of the 50th anniversary of scouting in February.

The Nemaquin Scouting Exposition will be held in the Armory in Frostburg this year and both units have made reservations for a booth. Troop 42 will display scouting hobbies and Squadron 42 will again use aviation as their theme. Oliver G. Lewis, squadron leader has pointed out that the squadron has reserved three units and will have a surprise display that will be of interest to all young men of the area interested in a career in aviation.

Troop 42 will also participate in Court of Honor to be held in St. Michael's Hall February 8.

Both units will hold a charter night on February 15 in the educational building of First Methodist Church. At this meeting, all parents have been urged to attend to accept or reject a proposed plan for a "big event" to take place this summer.

Blackwater River Pollution Will Be Discussed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Safeguards against pollution by coal waste of the Blackwater River in Tucker County will be discussed by the State Water Resources Commission during a meeting Feb. 17-18.

The sessions will be held at Blackwater Falls State Park, near which the possible pollution problem has arisen. A strip mining company has applied to the commission for a permit to operate a coal washery on Beaver Creek, a tributary to Blackwater River near the park property.

Among items on the Feb. 18 agenda will be a report from the Pennsylvania Glass Sand Corp. at Hancock, Morgan County, on litigation through which the firm has been attempting to obtain title to land for two large settling basins.

Information from Berkeley Springs as to what plans it has for sewage treatment facilities also is expected.

Humphrey May Enter Primary In W. Virginia

WASHINGTON (AP)—An aide said today Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) might enter the West Virginia presidential preference primary, but it would be pointless unless Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) also entered.

Humphrey will tour West Virginia next Monday and hold a news conference in the afternoon at Charleston when a decision may be announced.

Humphrey was not available, but an aide said the West Virginia primary, May 10, is a "popularity contest" and not binding on delegates. As a result, he said, there would be no object to entering it unless Kennedy, the other announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, also was in it.

"I hope Kennedy comes in," said the aide who asked he not be named.

The deadline for filing in West Virginia is Feb. 6. The State will have 25 votes in the Democratic National convention.

W.Va. Senate May Oppose Sales Tax Plan

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House of Delegates likely will turn to either a straight 3-cent sales tax or a natural resources severance tax, for new revenue in the current West Virginia Legislature session, but both will run into a stumbling block in the Senate.

This was obvious following lengthy Democratic caucus sessions in both chambers Thursday. House Speaker Harry R. Paul, said following a two-hour, 10-minute closed meeting of Democratic delegates that several tax proposals were discussed. "There was some sentiment for several while others found no support at all," he said.

He refused to identify the measures.

However, it was learned by United Press International most delegates favored enactment of a consumer sales tax at a three per cent rate, one cent above the present, without an exemption for groceries proposed by Gov. Cecil H. Underwood.

Also gaining considerable support was a $16,000,000 severance tax on natural resources, such as coal, introduced in the House Thursday.

Senate President Ralph Bean said following the Senate caucus, which lasted 10 minutes longer than the House, that taxes in general were discussed but no decisions were reached.

UPI learned 13 of the 23 Democratic senators indicated opposition to any new taxes at this session. The other 10 said they might favor the sales tax hike.

An attempt to bring some of the recalcitrants into line will be made Friday when Bean has scheduled a "committee - of - the - whole" session to hear Conservation Director Warden Lane outline the administration's proposed public works program.

UPI also learned that leaders of the AFL-CIO and United Mine Workers' union met Thursday and agreed to support enactment of a severance tax. Some mine union officials also favor a sales tax hike, but the West Virginia Labor Federation said it still is steadfastly against any sales tax at all, much less an increase in it.

Pauley said an attempt would be made next week to get majority party members of both chambers together to try and work out a tax program. House Democrats voted to invite their Senate counterparts to a joint caucus Tuesday.

Kingwood Man Seeks Seat In W.Va. Senate

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Del. Richard Whetsell of Kingwood filed with the secretary of state as a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senate Thursday from the 15th District.

Whetsell, a weekly newspaper publisher, is serving his sixth consecutive term in the House. He will seek the 15th District seat held by Sen. A. L. Reed of Newburg, Reed, completing his fourth Senate term, has announced he will not run again.

Whetsell will face Republican primary opposition from Dallas Wolfe of Rowlesburg, who filed last month.

More Trials Set In Court At Keyser

KEYSER — The trial of a Ridgeley resident indicted for a breaking and entering on a Route 220 establishment one mile south of here has been scheduled on Monday, February 8 in Mineral County Circuit Court.

Mervin Lavine Biggs, 30 Lyons Street Ridgeley, has been charged with breaking and entering the Boggs Supply Company on New Creek Drive.

Also scheduled on that day is the trial of Donald W. Butts on three misdemeanor counts.

The remainder of the criminal docket finds the case of the State vs. Forrest Berg on a misdemeanor being set for Thursday, January 28.

The civil docket set Wednesday is as follows:

February 9, Delmore G. Bowman and Michael R. Bowman vs. Marvin Likens; February 11, State Roads Commission vs. Town and Country Frozen Foods; and February 23, W. C. Rohrbach and Mandy I. Rohrbach vs. Arlie Bible and Thomas William Burns.

Westernport Asks Court Delay On Sewer Project

WESTERNPORT — The Mayor and Commissioners are asking Judge D. R. McLaughlin, Hagerstown, permission to delay work on the construction of a sewer running from Greene's Addition to the George's Creek. The sewer would relieve the unsanitary condition back of Jake Wilson's Place and has been called "Jake's Sewer."

Judge McLaughlin has ordered the town to have the work on the sewer underway by March 1.

A letter written by the town attorney Horace P. Whitworth to Judge McLaughlin was read at the regular meeting of the commissioners Wednesday evening.

Mr. Whitworth pointed out in the communication to Judge McLaughlin that if the town proceeds now it may be doing so at its own expense and may lose a substantial appropriation otherwise coming for this purpose from the federal government and the state of Maryland.

Additional time is needed if the work is to be done by the Upper Potomac River Commission as part of their agreement with the town.

The letter continued to Mr. Mc-

Laughlin "If you think that a conference with the municipal authorities would in any way clear up the situation I would be glad to have them come to Hagerstown and invite other interested parties in the controversy to the conference."

The Western Maryland Railway Company has agreed to permit the town to run the sewer under their railroad tracks for $50. It was presented to the council last night by Horace P. Whitworth Jr. for the mayor's signature after which the company will also sign it.

In addition to the cash prizes, a number of trophies will be awarded to winners who receive the Judges' nod in the first of the two 1960 Festival parades. Enlistment of eight youths in the Marine Corps has been announced by S Sgt. Robert Grayson of the local recruiting office. Four are from Cumberland, one from Barton and three from Pennsylvania. They are: Paul D. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Smith, 44 Marion Street, who served six months active duty since 1956 with the local Reserve unit, assigned to the Second Marine Division at Camp Lejeune and retains the rank of lance corporal to which he was promoted while in the Reserves; Bill Hickey, Philadelphia, re-enlisted for an additional six years as a corporal and requested assignment to the Pacific area. While on 30-day advance leave, he is staying with the parents of his wife, the former Miss Shirley May Stotler at 300 Laing Avenue.

Final Plans Being Made For CC Meet

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce is completing plans for its first annual meeting in several years and it is hoped to have reservations listed by Monday morning.

The dinner-meeting will be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club Tuesday. Refreshments will be served starting at 6 p. m. with the dinner at 6:30 p. m. Ladies are invited, according to John B. White, chairman of the dinner. Reservations should be called to the Chamber office, PA 2-2820.

A Trago Brust, public relations director of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, will be toastmaster.

A feature of the program, White said, will be presentation of the first annual Chamber of Commerce Civic Award.

Principal address will be by the Hon. Calvin D. Johnson, former congressman from Illinois and nationally-known speaker.

White said Johnson has addressed hundreds of business, civic and fraternal organizations and "stimulated the thinking of many Americans to a new hope in the future of our country and his deep understanding of the 'problems' and 'issues' of our times is reflected in the constructive program he advocates."

Johnson began his public career early. A resident of Belleville, Ill., he served as a member of the School and Park Boards, the County Board of Supervisors, Illinois General Assembly and the U. S. Congress.

As a member of the Board of Supervisors, he brought about disclosures of large scale tax graft; in the Assembly he organized a drive to break the "loan shark" and collection agency rackets; exposed relief racketeering and brought about legislation to halt exploitation of people on relief. He was sponsor of the "Johnson Work or Don't Eat" law which forced every able-bodied man on relief to earn the amount of his budget.

He was elected to Congress in 1942 and continued his fight there, exposing and forcing abandonment of the program which paid farmers in Peru not to grow cotton; and exposed and forced abandonment of the U. N. Relief and Rehabilitation Administration's European farm machinery program which would have shipped a half million pieces of equipment to countries, many of which are behind the Iron Curtain today.

He is a descendant of early settlers at Jamestown in the 1600s and of pioneer surgeon Ephriam McDowell whose likeness stands in Statuary Hall in the Nation's Capitol. He is a native of Fordsville, Ky., but his family moved to Illinois where he received his education. He is often referred to as "the 20th Century Lincoln."

The Civil Rights Probers Go West

The federal Civil Rights Commission, effectively estopped from its investigations of Negro voting in the South by a series of unfavorable rulings in Southern courts, on Monday, January 25, makes its first foray into the Far West. At hearings in Los Angeles and San Francisco, the Commission will study alleged discrimination against Mexican, Chinese, and Japanese minorities in California. It will also look into problems affecting Negroes, who have been moving into the Golden State in large numbers since the beginning of World War II.

The CRC will try to discover whether educational standards are lower in segregated neighborhoods, also whether slum living generates voter apathy or encourages "bloc voting." Presumably, the hearings could be extended to include discrimination in employment and in the administration of justice, two new areas of study the Commission recently decided to enter.

Aside from its activities in the South, the CRC had previously investigated only discrimination in housing in Chicago and New York City. In its report of September 8, 1959, it limited its recommendations for legislative and administrative action to the fields of voting, education, and housing.

The Commission previously had announced it would hold no further hearings in the South until the U. S. Supreme Court took up a Louisiana ruling on hearings procedure! The Louisiana court, in one of several decisions hamstringing the federal fact-finding group's work below the Mason and Dixon Line, had held that hearing witnesses must be subject to cross-examination.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Frightened Scientists

Mary Godwin, the wife of Percy Bysshe Shelley and daughter of the feminist Mary Wollstonecraft, wrote the story of Victor Frankenstein and the monster he created. Frankenstein, after this feat of science, lived in everlasting torture because of his achievement. Describing how she came to do such a thing, Mary Godwin wrote:

"I saw—with shut eyes, but acute mental vision—I saw the pale student of unhallowed arts kneeling beside the thing he had put together—I saw the hideous phantasm of a man stretched out, and then, on the working of some powerful engine, show signs of life, and stir with an uneasy, half vital motion. Frightful must it be; for supremely frightful would be the effect of any human endeavour to mock the stupendous mechanism of the Creator of the world. His success would terrify the artist; he would rush away from his odious handiwork, horror-stricken . . ."

We often speak of Frankenstein as though he were the monster and not its author. It would be as though we were to call Dr. Enrico Fermi, Mr. Atom Bomb and Dr. Harold Urey, Mr. Heavy Water. The fear that comes to men who create instruments of destruction must indeed be devastating and that perhaps is why so many atomic scientists demand that the alchemy which they throw together be banned.

Many scientists are having a very difficult time reconciling knowledge and sense, technical genius and wisdom. They are moving so fast, have achieved so much, have conquered ignorance so brilliantly that they have not had time enough to catch their breaths and to grasp the meaning of it.

I see a letter by Richard C. Bradley, Assistant Professor of Physics at Cornell University. He is very much concerned about over-population. The question of population or over-population is related to the food supply. There is plenty of room on Earth, the Sahara Desert, the Gobi Desert, the Arabian Desert, to take three examples of roominess, but roominess (one dare not use the word, space, any more) is not our concern. It is food.

And food is plentiful — so plentiful that wheat is stored in the bottoms of otherwise useless ships and in warehouses. The scientist then need not worry himself about over-population but about inadequate distribution of the food supply of the Earth and the meaningless failure to teach underdeveloped peoples to use organic fertilizer.

It would make much more sense to teach the people of India how to use cow manure on their land than to teach them birth control. As a matter of fact, those who govern India are well-informed about fertilizers and birth control and if, for political reasons, they prefer to use dung for coal instead of for fertilizer, that is strictly their business. If we desire to save India from a revolution because of misrule, the logical method is to take it over and manage it until we are driven out, as the British were, by the superior use of words, with no accompanying action, as Gandhi did.

To revert to Professor Bradley, he sat down pencil in hand and did some simple arithmetic calculating, which is somewhat of a comedown for a professor who should use at least x's and y's, and he produced this:

Take the world population at mid-century (about 2,000,000,000), take the present doubling rate (once every fifty years), and project the population indefinitely into the future. We see that by the year 2050 there will be 4,000,000,000 people, by the year 2050 there will be 8,000,000,000, and so on. Before ten centuries will have passed, our descendants can count on having 200,000,000,000 neighbors — which is slightly more than the number of square feet of land surface on Earth, including the South Pole, the Sahara Desert and Mount Everest."

This is very correct arithmetic. But what is the Q.E.D.? Does the professor desire that we should all limit ourselves to two children, to one child, or to no child at all? Shall we practice infanticide if, by the grace of God, an extra child appears? Are the limitations upon children to be imposed only upon the black, yellow and brown peoples or also on the whites? Suppose some nation secretly violates the international agreement on child limitation, is the United Nations required to raise a Police Force to extirpate that nation, strutting its land with slaughtered surplus?

Eisenhower System: Common Sense, Honesty

WASHINGTON — Seven years have passed since the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower as President of the United States on January 20, 1953. The polls show his popularity to be at a very high point. Irrespective of party, there is a feeling of admiration for the man himself. It is not based so much on official actions taken but on the spirit of conciliation and good will he has manifested in the conduct of national and international policies.

Partisans will naturally differ on whether the Eisenhower Administration has been a political success, for after all, the Republican Party has not been strong enough to elect a Republican majority in both Houses of Congress for the last six years of the Eisenhower Administration. But on the broad issues close to the hearts of the American people—the maintenance of peace and the handling of the recent economic recession — there is today a general vote of confidence in the President's way of steering the ship of state.

In the absence of concrete proof of why an administration is popular, there are always suppositions—some of them superficial—which do not explain the upward turn of the curve of popularity. One of these is that Mr. Eisenhower suddenly became a full-fledged President when John Foster Dulles passed away and when Sherman Adams resigned. This is an ill-informed view, but it is widely held. Actually, the President was the first to say that Mr. Dulles was not the inflexible person he was so often described to be. It is being said that Mr. Eisenhower wouldn't have engaged in personal diplomacy had Mr. Dulles lived. But the President went to the "summit" conference in 1955 with Mr. Dulles at his side.

As for Sherman Adams, he did operate the Executive staff somewhat differently than it is being carried on today. But the mere change in staff formula could hardly account for the emergence of Mr. Eisenhower as a successful President.

Perhaps the real reason is so simple that it is easily overlooked. A President cannot familiarize himself with all the requirements of his job in four years, so it is in the second term that he really begins to feel sure-footed. The advisers who surround a Chief Executive often overwhelm a President with their intimate knowledge of governmental affairs. A president finds it necessary to rely on subordinates far more in his first term than in his second. This correspondent has watched several Presidents in office and has come to the conclusion that it is more important for a Chief Executive to possess good judgment, a keen sense of what is right or wrong and the courage to make unpleasant decisions than it is for him to be an expert in governmental affairs.

Mr. Eisenhower has made mis-

DEDICATION — Washington is as quick with a dedication ceremony as Hollywood is with a premier. In the capital they dedicate anything, and usually with quite a flourish.

The other day Senators dedicated their new subway, which has two electric cars connecting the Senate office buildings with the Capitol. The ceremony was complete with speeches and a prayer by the Senate chaplain.

Not content with this, a race was organized with some Senators and spectators in each car. Immediately after the ribbon was cut opening the two-track tunnel the two cars took off, attaining at times their 17½-mile-per-hour maximum permissible speed.

The car carrying Senator Dennis Chavez (D), New Mexico, won, but some claimed the race was rigged. Chavez is chairman of the Senate committee that supervised the tunnel's construction.

RUSSIAN TRAVELOGUE — After Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev returned from his American tour last fall, an hour-long color film of his travels was issued and shown throughout Russia. The Soviet Embassy in Washington recently invited selected newsmen and diplomats for a viewing.

There was nothing rigged about the scenes included, although at one point the commentator spoke about the enthusiastic crowds while the camera showed silent onlookers with folded arms. On two occasions the commentator said efforts by Catholic groups to produce a cold welcome had failed.

One scene showed Khrushchev addressing the National Press Club, but it was cut abruptly before the opening question which so aroused his wrath.

Nowhere in the film was anything but a smiling, even-tempered Khrushchev shown. Those bursts of angry oratory and finger-shaking were absent from the film—probably out of focus.

GOLF — When President Eisenhower visits Moscow this spring he'll have a new golf course to try out. One is being built there, the first in the Soviet Union which for years has frowned on the sport as "bourgeois."

What's more there is a distinct possibility that he may play a round as the guest of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. That should be quite a sight!

Unproved Assumptions About Heart Disease

So many people have had heart attacks it is difficult to go anywhere without talking to someone who suffered a coronary last year or 15 years ago. This is to be expected because 80 per cent of all victims of coronary thrombosis survive.

These people are trying to ward off a recurrence by avoiding overweight, getting ample rest, being moderate in drinking and smoking, and maintaining a slightly slower tempo of living. Many of these men were able to trace the cause of the original attack somewhere in the "too much" way of living. They were too fat, too tense, too tired, smoked or drank too much, and got too little exercise.

Others use a different approach, pinning their hopes on diet, vegetable oils, and other chemicals to reduce the blood cholesterol level. They eat less animal fat and use corn or cottonseed oil. The plan is in keeping with our current way of thinking, but it is only fair to say that many of these recommendations are based on assumptions — not scientific proof.

Heart attacks follow obstruction in one of the coronary arteries of the heart. We assume that the blockage results from narrowing of the blood vessel because of hardening and thickening of the wall (atherosclerosis). On the other hand, it is impossible to diagnose arteriosclerosis of the coronary artery in a living subject except by inference.

The next assumption is that atherosclerosis is caused by a high concentration of cholesterol in the blood. This never has been proved nor is there proof that lowering the cholesterol level will lessen the chance of developing or preventing heart attacks. But that is not all: The use of vegetable oils and eating less animal fat reduces the cholesterol level. But this does not mean that animal fats in the diet or lack of vegetable oils increases the blood cholesterol.

Where do we stand? There is no harm in eating less fat, drink-

Lobbyist Tells How To Influence Votes By Campaign Contributions

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It isn't often that the public gets a chance to see how the big backstage lobbyists operate in Washington. Especially it isn't often that they get a chance to see how the liquor lobby operates, and read its private correspondence.

However, letters marked "CONFIDENTIAL" — "Please destroy this note immediately after you have digested its contents," have now come into the possession of this writer. They cast revealing light on the manner in which big money is placed on certain candidates in election campaigns to influence their vote after election.

This is one reason why Congress is now debating a clean election law.

Clinton Hester, lobbyist for the U. S. Brewers Foundation, has been one of the most interesting backstage money-raisers and letter-writers. He pulls a lot of weight around the halls of Congress, partly by contributing to elections, partly by entertaining the office staffs of Congressmen at his palatial Virginia estate, "Bath Alum," near Hot Springs. Every summer, Congressional staffs take a weekend jaunt to Hester's estate with meals, rooms, plenty of liquor, and a Saturday night dance, all for the giveaway price of five bucks.

Wool Lobbyist Also
Hester not only lobbies for the brewers but for the National Growers of Hot House Vegetables and various wool organizations. In 1947, when Congress passed its very controversial tariff on wool, Hester operated backstage to pass the bill even though not registered as a lobbyist.

This column reported, May 29, 1947: "Hester had his brother Ewart registered as a lobbyist at a salary of only $5,000. But in wool circles it is reported that C. M. Hester receives $18,000 from the wool traders. Three Congressmen admitted that Hester lobbied with them on behalf of the wool bill, yet let him get away with ignoring the lobbying law."

Since then, Hester has been more careful. He has registered as lobbyist for the Boston Wool Trade Association, the National Wool Trade Association, and the Philadelphia Wool and Textile Association.

As lobbyist for the U. S. Brewers Foundation, Hester wrote several highly interesting letters to Los Angeles beer baron Frank Vitale, head of the Bohemian Distributing Company, who was indicted during prohibition days in the biggest bootleg conspiracy on the West Coast. One letter, marked "Confidential," August 8, 1952, contains revealing advice on how the liquor lobby contributes election money so "it will help you and your company and also help the industry." To contribute through national channels, Hester advised, was "just pouring your money down a sewer."

Please Destroy
Here is the advice he gave to beer baron Frank Vitale in Los Angeles:

"Dear Frank:
"I am now out working for both the Democrats and Republicans, the emphasis on the Democrats, who have done so much for us, although, without the help of the few Republican friends in the House and Senate we would have found ourselves in a very difficult situation on any number of occasions.

"I recall your telling me that at Louis Johnson's request in 1948 you raised $5,000 in California. As I told you, to me, that was just pouring your money down a sewer. The chairman of the National Committee or the National Finance Committee is here today and gone tomorrow, so I have found from experience that the best way to do is to work through the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, the secretary-treasurer of which is Les Biffle. He has been here in a Congressional capacity since 1906 and will be here as long as he lives. Next to the President he is the most influential man politically in the United States.

"I was wondering if you would undertake to raise from Democratic members of our industry in California $5,000 for this committee, either in checks or cash, then you bring it here yourself and I will go with you to deliver to these gentlemen and we will have lunch with them and you will get an opportunity to get well acquainted with them. I can assure you they will be your friends forever. This will help you and your company personally and also help the industry tremendously.

"Without similar help it would be very difficult for me here. Indeed without the very substantial help of Rudie Schaefer, Carl Badenhausen, Phil Liebman and Fred Linder, I would be up against it.

There is no immediate rush about this matter so think it over and give me a ring.

"I am thinking about asking a Republican member of the industry to raise among the Republican members of the industry in your state a much lesser sum to be contributed to some of our Republican friends here.

"Please destroy this note immediately after you have digested its contents.

"Best regards,
(signed) Clint.
C. M. H."

Note—In the 1948 election in which President Truman pulled a surprise victory over Governor Dewey of New York, Louis Johnson was chief money-raiser for the Democrats. In gratitude, Truman later appointed him Secretary of Defense, which is another illustration of how big contributions mold American history. Johnson was the Secretary of Defense who announced in the spring of 1950 that America's armed forces would be ready to move at 4 a. m., but found on June 25, 1950, that they were totally unprepared to defend Korea at 5 a. m.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The man I envy lives on the second floor of a plain house at 229 72d Street, North Bergen, N. J. He is medium tall, wears glasses, has wavy brown hair with a bare spot at home plate, a dry sense of humor and, when he isn't redecorating his kitchen or dining room, can be found swapping jokes with the boys over a glass of beer.

He's my younger brother. His name is John Bishop Jr. and he just passed his fiftieth birthday. The reason I envy him is that he's content. He has always been like this. Johnny has never asked anything of life except a good wife, a few dollars for rent and eating money, and a job.

He has these things. At night, he works at Christ Hospital on Palisade Avenue. In the late hours, Johnny is in charge of a night group under Walter Hargaves, although he is sometimes to be found in the office, working over files and billing, or upstairs helping a nurse with a heavy patient, or down at a dock in the ambulance, picking up an accident case.

The pay is slight, but he doesn't holler about it. He thinks of himself as pretty shrewd. He isn't. If a man in a used car lot has one shiny lemon left, he will save it until my brother shows up with 300 hard-saved dollars. Once he bought a big cabinet radio that looked like a fortune until someone examined the set inside and proved it was taken out of an automobile.

Grandpa Tier used to call Johnny Puddinhead. He had blond hair in those days and a rollicking walk and fat around the little wrists. He was two when he walked away from home one morning, a pudgy boy in blue overalls. He was gone all day and our dad was a policeman and he had the cops searching alleys and cellars and abandoned buildings. My mother shrieked to God to please return her baby.

When he came back, he managed to walk through a whole cordon of police. Neighborhood women came running out of their houses, screaming: "There he is! He's back!" My mother came down off the front porch, tears streaking her face, and hugged him to her breast and spanked him until her hand nearly fell off.

He had walked a mile to a railroad trestle to watch the "choo choos." A strange man gave him a hand of bananas, and Johnny sat watching the high iron go by. In school, he wasn't much of a student. When Sister Alice Joseph found that she couldn't pound anything into his head, she tried knocking his brains out. Sometimes, without looking, she could swing at him from memory and bank him between the blackboards.

Between wars, Johnny joined the Coast Guard. He was a fireman aboard the old CG 1, the Destroyer Cassin. The rumrunners ran the destroyer dizzy between Block Island and Highland Light. Later, Johnny left the sea, but the sea never left him. He will read any sea story, even a poor one, several times. Anything to do with Navy or Coast Guard will keep Johnny from dozing in his easy chair.

In August, it will be 30 years since he married Anna Gryniak, as pretty a redhead as I've seen. She still has the red hair and the fine flashing smile, but there is a fleck of gray in the hair, and a few extra ounces where, thirty years ago, there wasn't any. This is also true of John, who can't tell whether his shoes are shined or not unless he sits down.

They have made a fine team. Anna has what Johnny lacks: drive and ambition. She works at Speidel's Watch Band place, and saves money almost as fast as he can spend it. They have three children: Joan, Jackie and Stanley. Two are married: one is about ready. There are three grandchildren, and Johnny and Anna spoil them one at a time.

In Johnny's house, our younger sister Adele lives with her husband and dad on the ground floor. It's an average family. Sometimes they speak to each other; sometimes they don't. Dad has a pool table in the cellar and, on Saturdays and Sundays, the men gather around it after a good dinner and almost make impossible combinations.

Well, he's 50 now. I remember when, on a cold night in the long ago, we used to sleep together. Against mamma's orders, we'd have Brownie in the bed. When mom came in she always asked two things: "Have you said your night prayer?" and "Where is that dog?" The answers were: "Yes" and "We don't know."

Sometimes, Johnny used to have to bite the bedclothes to keep from laughing because, under the covers, Brownie would be licking the soles of his feet. If there was any devilry afoot, Johnny was in it.

Sure I envy him. He's the happy one . . .

The item was a button-hook. Asked Ernie Kovacs, "Your face looks familiar. Haven't I seen it somewhere else?" Answered George Gobel, "No, it's always been right where it is now."

Members of the cast of a high school dramatic society looked over the props provided for their fall production — a play laid in the early 1900s — and were all puzzled by one small item: a short, metal rod with a crook in one end. Their gray-haired coach solved the mystery for them.

It also was announced at the meeting that the board of directors had declared a five per cent dividend on 1959 savings.

In other action taken at the meeting, Robert D. Swarner was named to the credit committee and Marshall J. Houdersheldt was re-elected to the committee. Rebecca Jones is a holdover member of the unit.

The educational report stated several local and county physicians spoke to church groups, PTA groups, service clubs and various other organizations concerning cancer. Nearly 27,000 pieces of literature on cancer were distributed throughout the county last year.

The financial report showed $11,066.97 was contributed last year, and a breakdown of contributions from the various communities in the county was given to each board member at the meeting.

Blue Cross To Enlarge Its Board

BALTIMORE (AP) — The public will have a bigger voice in operation of the Maryland Blue Cross.

The hospitalization plan announced Thursday State Insurance Commissioner F. Douglass Sears has approved expansion of its board of trustees from 21 to 33 members.

By mid-March there will be 17 public members on the board, 11 from hospitals and 5 medical members.

R. H. Dabney, executive director of the plan, said the revision is designed to permit Blue Cross to "serve the needs of its subscribers with even greater effectiveness."

At recent legislative committee hearings, recommendations were made that the board be decreased in size, instead of increased.

The addition of public membership on the board, however, will agree in part with suggestions advanced by some witnesses.

'Household Bugs', Not Flu, Blamed For Area Colds

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, said yesterday there is no evidence of influenza in epidemic proportions in Allegany County.

He said that was the gist of his answer to a query made by the United States Public Health Service.

The health officer said the county has had its share of seasonal colds and grippelike infections, with accompanying intestinal disorders.

The number of respiratory infections, he added, seems normal for winter weather and apparently are caused by "common household bugs" and not by any strain capable of causing epidemic influenza.

Dr. van Strien said the Allegany County situation bears out a report issued recently by Dr. Perry Prather, state health officer, that it's not flu that is causing the grippelike ailments.

USPH officials have been keeping a close watch on influenza since Asian flu swept the country a few years ago.

Firemen Agree On Fund Drive Limits

Fund-raising committees of the Baltimore Pike and Bedford Road volunteer fire companies have agreed upon boundaries for their fund raising drives, in order to avoid overlapping of solicitations.

They agreed at a meeting Monday night to use Mason Road as the dividing line, with Baltimore Pike to solicit on the east side of the road to the Rocky Gap Road, all of which lies in Baltimore Pike territory.

Bedford Road company will solicit on the west side of Mason Road to Rocky Gap Road.

Firemen stressed that the boundary applies only to fund drives, and not to fire calls. They said they will continue to go anywhere in the county when called.

Purses Rifled

Local police received a report last night that someone took money from some women's purses in the Sunday school rooms on the first floor of First Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Members of the Home Builders chorus and men of the church choir had put on a program of entertainment, according to Rev. Dr. E. E. Miller, pastor, who reported the thefts to police.

One woman reported her pocketbook also was taken.

Two Men Seek $8,500 Damages

Two damage suits seeking a total of $8,500 from George Podelco, a 27-year-old West Virginia University student living at 110 Harrison Street, Piedmont, were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The suits, both filed by Attorney Edward J. Ryan, grew out of a motor vehicle accident which occurred on December 6, 1959, on State Route 36, between Lonaconing and Moscow.

Charles Likens, a Lonaconing resident who is now working in Baltimore, seeks $5,000 from Podelco. Likens was a passenger in a car which was being driven south on Route 36 by Arthur J. Green, the owner. He contends that Podelco's car struck the left front of Green's vehicle.

Likens asserts that he sustained severe cuts on the forehead, a brain concussion, injury to two fingers on his right hand, was permanently scarred and disfigured and was unable to work for almost a month. Green, the driver and owner of the car, sued for $3,500. He is a Gilmore resident who also works in Baltimore. He sustained a fractured nose, severe cuts of the face and chin. He contended that his station wagon, which had been valdelco, Likens was a passenger in a car which was being driven south on Route 36 by Arthur J. Green, the owner. He contends that Podelco's car struck the left front of Green's vehicle.

Local Airman Is Home On Leave

Airman 2C John W. Buffenmyer, who is stationed at Suffolk County Air Force Base, Long Island, N. Y., is spending a brief leave at the home of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. John H. Buffenmyer, 27 Ridgeway Terrace.

Airman Buffenmyer who plans to return to the base this evening, is in his second year in the service. He graduated from Flintstone High School.

Pike Firemen To Meet

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company and its auxiliary will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the fire hall to plan summer activities.

Firemen Seek Rescue Truck

Fire Chief Fred Purnell said in the 12-month period ending December 31.

In addition the company decided to conduct a fund drive on a four-month basis, using coin cards which will be distributed the first week of February. The cards will be distributed for February, March, April and May and will be collected the first week in June. Ralph Garland is chairman of the fund committee.

It also was reported that last week the ladies auxiliary donated $360 to the fire company fund.

East-West vulnerable. North and West, for reasons not known by anyone including himself, permitted the trick to hold. The deuce of spades then came forth and West, having been too proud to win the jack, was not inclined to put his ace on the deuce, so the queen held in dummy. Declarer then returned to his hand with the nine of hearts covered by West's king and dummy's ace. Declarer then ran the rest of the clubs, discarding two diamonds from the closed hand. West, who had followed to the first lead of clubs, let go the ten of spades and two diamonds, but he could not withstand the pressure of the fifth club. He had his choice of a heart which would establish dummy's five, the ace of spades which would set up declarer's king, or a diamond. So he naturally disposed of the ten of diamonds in the hope that partner held the queen.

They're Called Meat Meringue Sandwiches

Who ever thought of putting a meringue on a meat sandwich? That's what has been done in this recipe called Meat Meringue Sandwiches. In fact, the meringue on this sandwich is pleasantly flavored with chili sauce and minced parsley.

These so-called "sandwiches" are actually made in a 9-inch square baking pan. The base for this sandwich is actually made from a recipe for biscuits.

The filling is a spicy mixture of pork sausage, onion, grated American cheese and egg yolks. The meat mixture is spread over the biscuit dough and baked in a hot oven (400° F.) for 20 minutes. The meringue mixture is then spread over the meat and the Meat Meringue Sandwiches are placed back in the oven for an additional 6 to 8 minutes.

Simply cut into 9 squares and serve the sandwiches while piping hot.

Meat Meringue Sandwiches
 1 pound pork sausage
 1 cup sifted enriched flour
 1½ teaspoons baking powder

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Pork Loin Chops.

Q. Where do they come from and how are they identified?

A. They come from the loin section and contain the eye of the loin and the tenderloin which are separated by a T-shaped bone. A small amount of fat covers the outer surface.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. They are usually prepared by braising. Chops cut ¾ to 1 inch thick require 45 to 60 minutes for cooking.

Curry Makes Meat Loaf Swank Dish

The gourmet is not usually happy with the so-called home-spun-type meal. Actually, anyone who cooks or enjoys food considers himself a critic of sorts.

There are even those persons who are quite discriminating when it comes time to pass judgment on a ground meat dish such as meat loaf.

A home economist well versed in the art of meat preparation has this recipe. Curry Beef Loaf, to bolster those ground beef recipe ideas.

It's amazing what just 1 teaspoon of curry will do to a beef loaf to transform it into a dish worthy of company acceptance.

Cream of celery soup and chopped onion also add their flavors to this tempting ground beef idea. Just sit back and watch the most discriminating food expert nod his approval.

Curry Beef Loaf
 2 pounds ground beef
 1 teaspoon salt
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 ¼ cup rice
 1 can (10½ ounces) cream of celery soup
 1 egg
 ¼ cup water
 1 teaspoon curry powder
 ¼ cup chopped onion
 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Combine ground beef, salt, pepper, rice, half can of celery soup, egg, water, curry powder, onion and parsley. Mix thoroughly. Pack into a greased 5x9-inch loaf pan. Spread remainder of celery soup over top of loaf. Bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 1½ hours or until done. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Prunes Bordeaux

1 lb. dried prunes
 1¼ cups sugar
 Grated rind of lemon
 2 inch stick cinnamon
 5 tablespoons butter
 2½ cups Bordeaux wine

Plump prunes in water overnight (one part prunes to two parts liquid). Add all ingredients but wine. Simmer over low heat until all liquid is absorbed, shaking pan to prevent sticking. Add wine. Heat but do not boil. May be served hot with duck, turkey, game, lamb or pork.

Dress-Up Dinner

Patties made from pork sausage are always a good, quick choice for dinner. To prepare them a little differently, roll the patty in beaten egg and then in crushed potato chips. Panfry them slowly in melted lard. Turn and brown on second side. Garnish with minced parsley.

Next time you are whisking up a batch of biscuits, add some chopped prunes (cut from pit with scissors). Add them before the liquid, and proceed as usual. Then serve the biscuits hot out of the oven, with butter. Wonderful with salads. Nice, too, with broiled sausages and green beans for an easy holiday season supper.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Good-looking come back Mrs. Dean Stockwell. Hall Bartlett, producer of "All the Young Men," and his beautiful bride, Ana St. Clair (Anna Maria Alba), were remarried a few weeks ago at the mission in Carmel, with his parents attending.

I sat next to the Bartletts at the Alan Ladd's dinner, and he told me that Anna Maria had made a fast trip to her native Brazil to buy Jorge Amado's popular novel "Captains of the Sands"—a best seller in South America.

"It's a great story," he told me, "and it will be next on my schedule. We'll film it in Brazil in May. I'll star Alan and David Ladd. Alan will play a priest for the first time in his career."

I don't wonder he wants young David Ladd—everybody has the same idea since "Dog of Flanders."

Had a nice chat with Veronique and Gregory Peck and Greg told me that he and Veronique and the children take off for Greece and "Guns of Navarone" on Feb. 21. "Just about the time you could get this in print, David Niven will be signed up for the third male starring part with Anthony Quinn and me," said Greg.

I asked him how all these plans would be affected if the actors vote to go out on strike Jan. 30? Greg said, "As I understand it, any contracts signed before the strike, if there is one, are considered binding." Let's hope so. I deeply hate to think of the motion picture industry blacked out because of a strike.

Strangely enough Susan Oliver, who is pretty and talented, has never seemed to click in motion pictures. Perhaps because she never had the fight chance. She asked for her release from Warner Bros., and then nothing happened. True, she's done all right on TV and in the several stage plays she has done.

Now she gets a chance in "Butterfield 8" playing the second femme lead to Elizabeth Taylor. She plays the girl who marries Eddie Fisher. She left today for New York to make a test—and here's wishing her good luck.

A group of Sue and Alan Ladd's friends were invited to their home to see the "competition," their son David Ladd, in that perfect gem of a motion picture "Dog of Flanders." All I can say is that if there were more movies of this type, clean, beautifully acted and produced, with each frame of film an artistic triumph, Hollywood would have fewer troubles. The backgrounds, shot in color in Holland and Belgium, are like a breathtakingly beautiful painting.

You laugh and cry alternately at this tender story of a boy and his dog and his grandfather. Life does not treat them kindly, but there is tenderness and warmth, and above all, hope, in what happens to them. David is such a sensitive young actor, his face mirroring each emotion with feeling. Donald Crisp as the grandfather tears at the heartstrings. As for that wonderful dog—what an "actor"! Outstanding, too, is Theodore Bikel as a tempestuous artist who tries to encourage the boy. The townspeople are all natives who were eager to help the inspired young (in his 30's) producer, Bob Radnitz, who guided this picture from his heart.

The mysterious actions of Mille Perkins and Dean Stockwell on the set of "Sons and Lovers" in London have everyone sure they'll be married before she comes back. They say they are going to wait until they return, but I am going to stick my neck out a mile and say I believe the young star of "Diary of Anne Frank" will

Successful Party Features Filbert Mocha Log

Recipes for good parties are just as important as recipes for good foods. When you combine a group of people with a generous amount of friendliness and goodwill, you have the basis of a happy party. Servings for a group come from this formula and for the final touch, garnish with delectables to eat.

Here indeed is a delectable refreshment, one that will add the perfect touch to a gay holiday gathering — Filbert Mocha Log, a creamy combination of light sponge cake, fluffy mocha frosting and crunchy filberts.

Filberts are usually found in shell on the market, although more and more are available shelled. When the hard brown shell is removed, you'll find the kernel covered with a thin brown skin. Toasting helps to develop the full rich flavor of the filbert and enables you to remove the brown covering.

Spread the nuts in a shallow pan and heat in a 275-degree oven for 20 minutes. While the filberts are still warm, rub them with a rough cloth to remove the skin. The outer casing is not objectionable, however, and filberts used in baked products need not be toasted. One pound of filberts in shell yields about 1½ cups whole, shelled nutmeats.

That REAL Home-Made Flavor

C & B Distributing Co., Inc.

4 eggs
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

FROSTING:

1 pound powdered sugar
½ cup butter or margarine
1½ teaspoon salt
1 square (1-oz.) baking chocolate, melted
½ cup cold strong coffee
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup chopped toasted filberts

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Set aside. Have eggs at room temperature. Break into large mixing bowl; add lemon juice and beat at high speed, gradually adding sugar, for 10 minutes. Add vanilla and fold in flour mixture. Bake in paper-lined 15½ by 10½-inch jelly roll pan at 350° for 30 to 35 minutes. When done, cool 5 minutes; turn from pan; remove paper lining; let stand until thoroughly cooled. Cut into 4 layers, crosswise, making one 5¼ inches wide, one 4¼ inches, one 3¼ inches, and one 2¼ inches. Make frosting by creaming powdered sugar, butter and salt together. Drizzle in chocolate. Add remaining ingredients, beating until very fluffy. Frost cake in layers, with widest layer at bottom and narrowest layer at top. Sprinkle log with chopped filberts. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Chocolate Cookie Crust Bavarian

CRUST:

- 1½ cups crisp chocolate cookie crumbs

½ cup crushed potato chips
½ cup melted sweet butter
FILLING:

- 1 tbs. plain gelatin
- ¼ cup water
- 1 cup milk, scalded
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 tsp. lemon rind (optional)
- 3 eggs, separated
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ¾ cup whipping cream
- Small bar sweet chocolate, melted

Butter an 8" x 8" baking pan, or a 9" glass pie pan.

Crust: Use 18-20 thin crisp commercial cookies about 3 inches in diameter, or the 2" double cookies stuck together with thin icing. Roll cookies and potato chips fine, or put through food mill. Turn crumbs into bowl, add butter and work with hands until crumbs pack when squeezed together. Press an even layer of crumbs on sides of pan with spatula or rubber scraper, and on bottom with bottom of glass. Chill at least 30 minutes.

Filling: Soften gelatin in cold water. Scald milk in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks slightly in bowl add sugar and salt then while stirring slowly pour hot milk into yolks. Strain back into double boiler and stir over gently boiling water until mixture coats a metal spoon (from 2-3 minutes). Remove from heat and stir in gelatin until dissolved, then vanilla and lemon rind. Beat egg whites until stiff, then fold into warm gelatin mixture, and beat again until just smooth. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip cream until barely stiff and fold lightly into gelatin mixture until just blended. Turn into crumb-lined pan. Grate chilled chocolate evenly and generously over top. Chill several hours or overnight. Cut into rectangles or wedges. (8 servings).

NOTE: Dip pan into warm water for a second to lift serving from pan easily.

Skewered Prunes, Apricots

Plump prunes and apricots over night (one part fruit to two parts liquid). Thread alternately on skewers. Dip skewers first in melted butter, then in brown sugar. Bake in buttered pan for 15 minutes. Turn. Sprinkle again with brown sugar and glaze under broiler.

Honest Commercials: Are We Ready?

The Federal Trade Commission has charged that real sandpaper was not used in shaving soap advertisements on television. The Colgate-Palmolive Company has retorted that scientific research has proved "beyond any doubt" that sandpaper could be shaved. Now let's all keep our heads. In matters of grave moment like this, there's no sense rushing to conclusions.

I haven't shaved any sandpaper in years. In fact, come to think of it, I've never shaved any sandpaper. Peaches I've shaved. Naturally. Everyone has. If you ask me, the country started to go to hell when people started shaving sandpaper instead of peaches like grandfather did. This whole controversy would never have arisen, if we'd stuck to the old ways.

"This demonstration has been duplicated successfully on many occasions and most recently to an F.T.C. representative who actually made the sandpaper test himself," the Colgate people declare stoutly. This doesn't square with the F.T.C. charge at all. The truth is, cried the F.T.C. sorrowfully, "the supposed sandpaper" isn't sandpaper at all; it's a mock-up of glass or a "similar substance to which sand has been applied."

How do you suppose they found out? The way I reconstruct the scene, the government men break down the doors of Colgate-Palmolive Company. "Okay, everybody reach! Hey you, take your hands off that sandpaper. Trying to destroy the evidence, eh? Look, Joe, like I told you. It isn't sandpaper at all but a mock-up of glass or a similar substance to which sand has been applied."

Shivers must have rippled up and down all of Madison Avenue when they found out that a three-man commission has been sitting monitoring commercials all day and all night, looking for fraud. No one had ever counted on three sets of beady eyes being fixed on the screen when that little girl rushes up and says:

"Look, mom, no cavities." "Get a tail on that girl," growls the chief monitor. "If there's a break in her teeth, upper or lower, the president of Crest is going up the river or my name isn't Tom Swift."

What a thrilling television series it'll make when the time comes! "And so, the F-Men close another case! The flavor gems on Blue Bonnet margarine were proved to be nothing but non-volatile liquid substances. Tune in again next week when the F-Men take up the Case of the Unwrapped Ham—or Who Abused the Aluminum Foil?"

But, seriously though—a phrase I picked up listening to disk jockeys explain that they never took any payola themselves but it's widely known everyone else did—what does all this portend? Honest commercials? Are we ready for honest commercials? "You can wash your hands with our soap and get reasonably clean."

Just wait till someone tries to set that to music! "Revlon reddens the lips. If you expect pyrites to abduct you, go to charm school."

I can't wait for the F.T.C. to step in and referee that race between the Bufferin and the aspirin. You know—who gets into the blood stream faster I think the race is fixed. All I ask is an honest count.

But, oh the disillusionment that lies ahead for all of us! You know that girl that keeps her hands soft and lovely with Jergens for her husband. Well, that guy that bounds in and folds her in his arms—suppose that isn't her husband? My God, the headlines! Suppose it isn't her hands he's so feverishly attracted to. Suppose it's some other aspect of her—and not even legality? What will the church groups say to that?

If we had Pay-Television, we wouldn't get into these rumbles.

Combine 2 cups coffee and cake always go to mashed potatoes, onion, chopped pimiento and chopped parsley and spread or cut surface of 6 frankfurters. Place remaining frankfurters on top, cut side down. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 20 minutes. 6 servings.

Norwegian Cake, Coffee Add Up To Delectable Pair

Norwegians are known the world over as expert bakers and many, many of their cake recipes are treasured in far-away places. One of them is a perfectly delicious Coffee Spice Cake, a marvelous confection to serve with cups of fragrantly steaming coffee.

The cake itself is filled with the aromatic spices that lend a distinctively Nordic flavor. There's cinnamon and allspice, nutmeg and cloves and, happily, the subtle overtones of rich coffee. When the cake is generously frosted with whipped cream, the result is a delectable contrast in both flavor and consistency. As any Norwegian will tell you, there's only one way to serve it—with plenty of your best freshly brewed hot coffee. In frankfurters lengthwise and spread Norway, as in the United States, with mustard. Combine 2 cups coffee and cake always go to mashed potatoes, onion, chopped pimiento and chopped parsley and spread or cut surface of 6 frankfurters. Place remaining frankfurters on top, cut side down. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 20 minutes. 6 servings.

Walnut Blintzes, Coffee Are A Delicious Pair

When it's time to entertain with a lovely dessert, these Coffee Walnut Blintzes are just the answer. They're sweet and crispy on the outside, sweet and crunchy inside—and—perfectly delicious with coffee!

Coffee blintzes are made in the traditional way, with a very thin pancake folded over a delicious filling. This particular filling is one of the best and features chopped walnuts, honey and coffee. When the warm blintzes are sprinkled with sugar and beaded with sour cream, they add up to mouth-watering perfection.

Whether you serve the blintzes at an afternoon bridge or an evening dessert party, coffee is always a must.

Coffee Walnut Blintzes

Blintze Batter

2 eggs
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter or margarine

Filling

1 1/2 cups finely chopped walnuts
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
2 tablespoons coffee brew

Beat eggs, oil and milk together. Add flour and salt and beat smooth. Chill 1/2 hour. Melt 1 teaspoon butter in 7-inch skillet. Pour 1 tablespoon batter into skillet, turning pan quickly so batter will cover bottom. Cook until light brown on under side only. Continue until all the batter is used, using more butter as required. Stack blintzes, browned side up, until all are done. Combine filling ingredients; place 1 tablespoon on browned side of each blintz. Turn two opposite sides in a little, then roll up carefully. Melt butter remaining from batter ingredients in large skillet. Fry blintzes until lightly eat.

Popular Way With Ground Beef, Beans

Now here is an idea and many homemakers may wonder why they haven't thought of it before. There are no exotic ingredients included and no extensive preparation or cooking time.

This recipe quickie is simply a combination of ground beef and baked beans accompanied by a nippy mixture of seasonings... chili sauce, prepared mustard, chopped onion, salt, pepper and garlic salt.

The meat is shaped into 16 meat balls. They are then browned slowly in lard or drippings. They are arranged on top of the baked bean mixture and the Beef Bean Bake as it is called is then baked in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes.

Fresh ground meats can be kept loosely covered in the coldest part of the refrigerator for a period of 2 to 3 days. Fresh ground meats should not be kept longer unless frozen.

Beef Bean Bake

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 can (1 pound 15 ounces) baked beans
1/2 cup chili sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
3 tablespoons lard or drippings

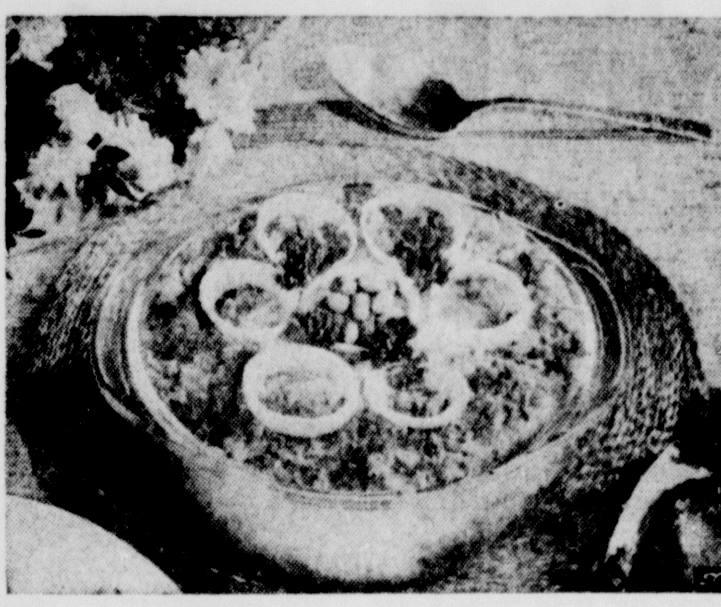

Soak bread crumbs in milk. Combine ground beef, bread crumbs, salt, garlic salt and pepper. Mix well. Shape into 16 meat balls, allowing about 2 tablespoons mixture for each. Brown slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine beans, chili sauce, mustard and onion. Pour into a 2-quart casserole. Arrange meat balls on top of baked bean mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Seasonings To Choose

Ground beef works menu magic for variety, add herbs to produce flavor uniqueness. Use the herbs cautiously until you discover the greatest flavor appeal. A good rule to follow is 1/8 teaspoon per pound of ground meat. For stronger seasonings add 1/4 teaspoon per pound of ground meat.

Beef For Breakfast

Beef is becoming a popular breakfast food because of its tempting flavor and staying power. There are no mid-morning hunger pangs after a tasty small steak or a generous helping of dried beef or beef bouillon.

Unusual Onion Casserole

Peanut onion casserole is one treat, it's economical. All of those unusual combinations that make an ordinary meal an occasion. Just wait 'till you taste it! Here is an easy-to-prepare dish that will bring raves from your family and friends.

Ideal as an everyday vegetable dish of distinction, the Peanut Onion Casserole serves beautifully, too, as a party dish and can't miss creating conversation among your guests. There is a most distinctive flavor imparted in the combination of onions and peanuts that adds a gourmet touch to any meal. This is especially good served with roast meat, sausage, frankfurts or baked meat dishes.

3 cups cooked sliced onions
1 cup ground roasted peanuts
2 cups white sauce
1 cup bread crumbs
2 tablespoons melted butter

Place alternate layers of onion and peanuts in baking dish. Cover with white sauce. Top with bread crumbs mixed with melted butter. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees until crumbs are golden brown, about 20 minutes.

Not only is this dish a real treat, it's economical. All of those unusual combinations that make an ordinary meal an occasion. Just wait 'till you taste it! Here is an easy-to-prepare dish that will bring raves from your family and friends.

Sausage Unique

To prepare a quick luncheon or light supper, plan on pork sausage links. Arrange cooked pork sausage links and asparagus spears on toast. Cover with a cheese sauce. A fruit salad, coffee and dessert complete this easy yet nutritious meal.

Breakfast Short Cut

When preparing large breakfasts, try this handy time saver. When cooking bacon for a large group, place the bacon on a rack in an open roasting pan and bake in the oven.

Corned Beef Serves In Salad Mold

First in a sandwich, then in a salad—corned beef is so versatile, it's just apt to show up in most any type of menu.

A home economist tells us when and for what type of occasion this dish is prepared.

It might be well to keep this idea in mind the next time the ladies in your neighborhood are over for a luncheon gathering. Serve this chilled Corned Beef Salad Mold along with hot biscuits, marmalade, potato chips, dessert and coffee.

The match-like strips of corned beef add a certain heartiness to the salad while the lemon and beet juice, vinegar, horseradish, chopped onion and celery and diced beets add the nippy flavor and texture.

Corned beef is cooked in water. The meat is simmered very slowly from 3 1/2 to 5 hours.

Corned Beef Salad Mold

1 1/2 cups julienne-style cooked corned beef
1 package lemon gelatin

1 cup boiling water
1/4 cup beet juice
1/4 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon horseradish
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 cup diced beets

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in beet juice and vinegar. Chill until partially set. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into a 1 1/4-quart ring mold. Chill until firm. Yield: 6 servings.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market advanced Thursday making it the first rise in five sessions and the third so far in 1960.

Steels, chemicals, autos and electronics found enough support to halt the decline which had cut some 16 billion dollars from stock values since the start of the new trading year.

However, it looked for a while as though the profit-takers might get the better of the bulls as in previous sessions. But support in the closing minutes poured renewed strength into the list.

While the market closed with only a modest gain, the industrial stock average advanced 1.74 points to 645.43. It had been up close to 3 at its top, and at its worst less than a point above the previous close.

The industrials underwent some midday chipping in their average when sellers decided to take profit. Gains of 2 1/4 in Du Pont, 2 1/4 in Union Carbide and more than 1 in U. S. Steel, however, revived the group.

Auto production this week was scheduled to hit its highest mark in four years, and the new-bodied Chrysler more than 1, while Ford and GM firmed. General Motors was the second most active traded and Ford the fourth most active.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO, Feb. 15—Soybeans rallied strongly Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Most other grains held steady a quiet session.

At the final bell, wheat was off $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ cent, corn $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ cent, oats off $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ cent, rye up $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ and barley up $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$.

Wheat was light and mostly steady. Old crop contracts ranged lower five times as local interests led the selling. But scattered buying came from the export market.

Barley export activity was reported in wheat. The corn bid showed little change from Wednesday. In early price dip came on Thursday.

Oats were mostly steady. Soybeans and marketing corn. Northwest brokers bought July, and exporters took the rest of the month.

Export subsidies were granted on 1,576,000 bushels of corn and 1,369 bushels of soybeans.

Oats were mostly steady, although a few contracts showed easier tendencies. Commission houses were the main sellers, and the market was quiet.

Rye opened easier. Prices grew firm on local and small commission house buying.

Soybeans advanced sharply following a report that the U.S. was strong in the export market.

Grains were inspired by an upswing in meals, commercial interests and a large commission house.

Italy reportedly purchased 3,000 tons of soybeans, and the United Kingdom bought 1,000 bushels of corn.

Tawes Backs Apportionment Compromise

Plan Favors Rough Road In Assembly

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Thursday endorsed a compromise plan for expanding membership of the Maryland House of Delegates.

Tawes, in a statement issued by his office, said the latest reapportionment proposal "represents the best solution to the problem that we can expect under the circumstances."

The compromise plan would give Baltimore City a chance for more seats at some time in the future and add immediately to the representation from the four largest counties — Baltimore, Prince Georges, Montgomery and Anne Arundel.

The plan was redrafted by a study commission headed by William C. Walsh of Cumberland after the Legislative Council defeated a more sweeping reapportionment proposal, 12-5, in a test vote last Nov. 4.

The compromise plan is designed to make reapportionment more appealing to Baltimore City delegates and to break up a city-small county coalition which defeated the earlier proposal in the Legislative Council.

Rough Road Ahead

Even the compromise faces a rough road in the Legislature, for as a constitutional amendment, it would require three-fifths vote in each body, 74 in the House and 18 in the Senate.

Tawes, in announcing his support, apparently is willing to use his influence in breaking up the city-small county coalition, and especially in bringing some of the smaller counties behind the compromise plan.

"Like so many instruments produced in the democratic process," Tawes said, "this (latest) report is a compromise of conflicting opinions. As such, there will be those who say it does not go far enough in correcting an obsolete system of representation. On the other hand, there will be those who say it goes too far."

"In my opinion," he added, "the compromise proposal represents the best solution to the problem that we can expect under the circumstances. I, therefore, endorse the commission's recommendation for reapportionment and ask the members of the General Assembly to support legislation to implement it."

Baltimore Included

The four largest counties, bordering Baltimore and Washington, have been held to a frozen maximum of six delegates since 1950 while their population has mushroomed. The four suburban counties comprise 44 per cent of the state's population, but hold, between them, only 19 per cent of the House seats.

Baltimore City stood to gain nothing under the earlier proposal defeated by the Legislative Council. As revised, the plan provides for immediate redistricting of Baltimore in order to make the city's six legislative districts about the same size population. They now vary widely.

The redistricting would be worked out by the city House delegation, with approximately 165,000 population in each district. When one of the city districts hits 200,000 population in the federal census, it then would be entitled to seven delegates, instead of the present six. The same applies to any county reaching 200,000 in population.

After getting seven delegates, a city district or any county would have to add 100,000 more population for each additional seat up to a maximum of 10 seats.

The Walsh committee estimated that one or more city districts and possibly several smaller counties may be entitled to additional seats by 1970.

House Maximum Raised

The Walsh committee plan, as the previous one, is geared to a population scale and proposes a new limit of 141 seats in the House of Delegates. The House is now composed of 123 members.

The plan calls for no increase in Senate seats, now apportioned one to each county and Baltimore City legislative district.

The only immediate relief would come to Baltimore County, with an estimated population of 465,000. Prince Georges 370,000, Montgomery 325,000 and Anne Arundel 205,000.

Baltimore County's seats would be increased from six to nine, Prince Georges from six to eight, Montgomery six to eight and Anne Arundel six to seven.

This is how the proposed "growth scale" would work:

When a county reaches 50,000, an increase from two seats, the present minimum, to three; 75,000 population, an increase from three to four; 100,000 population, from four to five; 150,000 population from five to six, the present maximum; 200,000 population, from six to seven; and for every additional 100,000 population one new seat up to the maximum of 10 seats at 500,000 population.

Zero Weather Is Expected In Garrett

Skiing Conditions Are 'Very Good'

Zero weather is expected in Garrett County early this morning, according to Ralph E. Weber, official weather observer at Oakland, who said that blizzardy conditions prevailed there last night as the thermometer hovered around eight degrees above zero.

For the past three days and nights that county has been buffeted by high winds and snow which has left highways in a hazardous condition.

About five inches of snow has accumulated during the past couple of days. Some fresh fine snow fell yesterday and there was snow in the air last night.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park here, said a few flakes of snow fell in the Cumberland area yesterday. It was rather sunny during the afternoon although the temperature failed to go above the freezing mark.

At 6 p. m. yesterday the temperature here was 18 degrees. The high was 24 degrees, and some wind was prevalent in the city last night.

Some Roads "Bad"

State Police at LaVale described the highways in Garrett County as "bad" last night, although the roads in Allegany County were clear.

A spokesman for the State Roads Commission said that yesterday afternoon the temperature was 14 above at Big Savage and the highways at that time were 25 to 50 per cent bare. At least one SRC crew with a truck had been called out.

Skiing conditions will be "very good" on the Marsh Mountain slope at Deep Creek Lake, the Western Maryland Ski Club reported last night.

The club said spectators will have no trouble getting to the Maryland State Skiing Championship Races Saturday and Sunday.

Up to a foot of cover snow has fallen on the slope, topping from three to four feet of snow built up in recent weeks by the use of snow fences.

4 Degrees On Big Savage

Early yesterday morning the mercury slid to a low reading of 4 above on Big Savage. The Weather Bureau yesterday predicted overnight lows of 5-10 above in the mountains, 10-15 above in the rest of Western Maryland and 15-22 above in eastern and southern areas. Fair and some cloudiness is forecast today in the west portion of the state, with snow flurries in the mountains.

In West Virginia the snow depths ranged from a light covering in some Northern and Eastern Panhandle counties to up to 18 inches in Pocahontas County.

Doe Will Head New Operation At Luke Mill

MECHANICVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Robert M. Doe, superintendent of the pulp mill at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. plant here, will direct a new 50-million-dollar pulp operation at the company's mill in Luke, Md.

George N. Hoover, manager of the Mechanicville plant, announced Doe's appointment Thursday night. He said the program was designed to produce a new type of pulp used in manufacture of machine-coated paper.

Doe will assume his duties in Maryland March 1. He will be succeeded here by Kenneth W. Timmerman, now chlorine plant superintendent.

Ice Skating Is Planned Tonight

Gephart Rink Is Being Prepared

There will be ice skating tonight at the Gephart School Playground on Frederick Street. The City Recreation Department said the skating area will be open tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock if the cold weather continues.

Barring a change in the weather, free skating will also be available at the Frederick Street site Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon and from 7 to 10 p.m. and on Sunday from 7 to 10 p.m.

C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, said the skating will be supervised by the Gephart Playground Association, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Lapp.

Bonfire Planned

Wood has been stockpiled for a cheery bonfire and members of the playground association will make hot chocolate and similar refreshments available.

Mr. Mason said Carl Wolfe, maintenance man for the Recreation Department, began getting the skating area in shape Wednesday.

The tennis court at the playground is used for skating when weather permits.

Workers on Wednesday filled the blacktopped area about half full and allowed it to freeze solid.

The work of building up a solid skating surface continued yesterday as workers sprayed the area for several hours.

Area Is Sprayed

It is a cold job, Mr. Mason said, as several men must hold a fire hose, equipped with a fog nozzle loaned by the Fire Department, and direct the spray, or ice crystals, evenly to all parts of the skating rink.

Several hundred skaters usually take part in the skating available on the 120-by-120-foot skating area.

Mr. Mason explained that the area can be used only for a few hours each day, as maintenance crews must scrape the ice smooth after each session and then spray on water to provide a new surface.

Last winter, about 4,000 citizens enjoyed the sport on the 23 days the Gephart skating area was open.

Handicapped Markers Are Available

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said yesterday that rescue markers are now available to be placed on the homes of the aged, blind, bedridden and handicapped of Cumberland.

He pointed out that the markers would prove valuable when fire equipment is summoned to a home where such an emblem is displayed.

Faster rescues will be possible, he said. The emblems are fluorescent red and black that can be seen at night when a spotlight is turned on them.

Chief Parker reminds residents who are interested in obtaining markers to contact Central Fire Station. A qualified member of the Fire Department will go to the home and place the markers on the front and rear doors and on the door and window of the handicapped person's room.

He said the local firemen are following the example of volunteer firemen of Allegany County who have distributed such markers in their communities. Pottomac Fire Company of Westernport was the initial company to distribute them. LaVale firemen are now in the process of distributing them.

Chief Parker said they are "well worth the cost," and are of no charge to local residents. There is a supply on hand at Central Fire Station and if additional ones are needed they will be obtained.

South End Bandstand Comes Down

Sledge hammers are tolling the end of an era in the Queen City's long history.

The last of Cumberland's bandstands is being demolished by street crews this week. The other, located in Riverside Park, was demolished several years ago.

The decision to raze the building, located near South End Fire Station, apparently came Monday after the Mayor and Council heard a report on the condition of city-owned property.

Informed sources said the report indicated the bandstand was badly in need of repairs, that termites had been feeding upon wooden parts of the structure for years, and that the roof was beyond repair and would have to be replaced if the building were retained.

It was a "fix up or tear down" issue, City Hall sources said, and the decision was to spend available funds on buildings which are most needed.

It was reported that city officials received quite a few complaints, which ended as residents of the area saw the condition of wooden structures as they came down.

Demolition was virtually completed yesterday. For many years, band concerts were held at the bandstands in the park and in South Cumberland. In recent years, outdoor concerts have been held in the amphitheater at Constitution Park.

Judge Explains Joint Account Relationship

Courts Do Not Try Protection

When a husband and wife create a joint bank account, subject to the order of either with survivorship, the courts do not attempt to protect them from each other.

This was the chief point of a five-page opinion filed in Allegany County Circuit Court by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris. He explained that it is a trust-worthy relationship created voluntarily by the parties and the trust exists completely in each beneficiary.

This opinion arose on the defendants' demurrer to a bill of complaint filed in equity by Luke M. Bridges, the petitioner. Helene Pittman Bridges died without leaving a will on May 12, 1959, leaving as her only heirs-at-law her husband, Luke M. Bridges, and her parents, Dora Pittman and Sylvester Pittman.

Married In 1947

Luke M. Bridges and Helene Pittman Bridges were married December 9, 1947. They opened a joint bank account in the Cumberland Savings Bank on January 25, 1956. The Bridges became estranged in the latter part of 1958 and the husband left. He continued to pay the rent for the apartment and the utility bills and contributed $15 a week toward the household expenses.

The bill of complaint in this case alleges that after the death of Helene Bridges last May 12, her husband discovered that she had withdrawn the joint account totaling $2,409.02 on October 7, 1958. In its place she had opened a saving account in her own name only, and it had $2,215 at the time of her death.

The complainant contends that the act of the wife in transferring the account to her name alone was an act of bad faith and a breach of trust and asks the court to pass an order declaring the savings account to have been the personal property of the complainant and that the decedent's interest in it terminated at her death.

Mrs. Bridges' parents have made claim against the savings account for one-half of her estate before any of the funeral expenses, which amount to $933, are paid out of the estate.

Judge Harris opinion concerns the three points of the Pittmans' demurrer, sustaining two and overruling one of them.

The third point of the demurrer is that nowhere in the petition is the case made out for the intervention of Circuit Court. The petition shows on its face that the withdrawal of the savings account by Mrs. Bridges was in accordance with the legal right conferred on her by the voluntary contract of the petitioner with the bank.

Approved By High Court

Judge Harris explained that this form of deposit, by which either may withdraw any or all of it during their joint lives and the survivor takes all that is left on the death of the other, has been approved in all of the decisions of the Maryland Court of Appeals.

It makes no difference, in the absence of fraud, whose money it was when deposited or how much either contributed to the trust or deposit.

The second point of the demurrer sustained is that the administrator of the estate is a proper and necessary party to these proceedings and has been omitted. Mr. Bridges, as administrator of his wife's estate, should have been made a co-party plaintiff in his representative capacity.

Judge Harris overruled the other point of the demurrer, which was that jurisdiction was conferred on the Allegany County Orphans' Court. While the administration and distribution of the personal estate of an intestate (one without a will) should generally be in Orphans' Court, it frequently occurs that the statutory and limited powers of this court are not adequate and recourse must be had to equity.
